Associated Press Sports Writer
GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The 10th Winter Olympics opened today, with French President Charles de Gaulle holding center stage and one of America's brightest medal hopes sidelined by a tragic mishap on the last day of practice. Breaks Right Leg

Robin Morning of Santa Monica, Calif., broke her right leg practicing for the women's downhill competition Monday. A decision was expected today on possible surgery for the 20-year-old skier.
There were other minor scrapes and scratches as contestants finished their preparations for the games where athletes from all over the world oppose each other every four years.

President De Gaulle presides over colorful opening ceremonies in a 60,000 seat stadium built for the games. This Alpine community was overflowing with some 1,500 Olympic athletes.

There was a light slate today with just three hockey games scheduled. The opening ceremonies—a spectacular production on which local officials had worked for months—dominated the day's activities.
There were the predictable last-minute squabbles Monday with Russian team officials slapping American wrists for what the Soviets called U.S. aggression in Vietnam and the International Ski Federation clashing with Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee.

The federation, in a last-minute change, ruled that skiers would be allowed to wear skis displaying manufacturers names.

Brundage Bristles
Brundage, a firm believer in protecting the amateurism of the Games, bristled at the decision and called for a meeting to day of the 10-man executive board to discuss the problem.

There was the possibility that unless the federation changed its mind, the IOC would rule all skiing events world championships instead of considering them part of the Olympics. In world championship competition, manufacturer's names are permitted on the skis.

Reds Losing Hue Grip; Da Nang Attack Looms

SAIGON (AP) — Attack and counterattack widened devastation across South Vietnam today as the Communists pushed their biggest offensive of the war into its second week. Red troops battled on against superior allied fire power in Saigon; gave ground in Hue.

Marines Retake Site
U.S. Marines recaptured the Thua Thien Province headquarters building in Hue, the old imperial capital, and their South Vietnamese allies narrowed Communist holdings in Hue's bomb-blasted Citadel across the Perfume River. Only one wall of the Citadel was reported to remain in Red hands.

At some points elsewhere the enemy, thought by Saigon count losing men at the rate of 12 to 1 for the allies, appeared to be outmaneuvering government troops.
Large sections of Saigon and Hue lay in smoldering ruins, and towering columns of smoke rose into the sunny skies as South Vietnamese dive-bombers, U.S. helicopter gunships, artillery and tanks blasted away at Communist troops in scattered sections.
Tens of thousands of terrified civilians streamed from shacks and huts in Saigon with what meager belongings they could carry, swelling the number of homeless to staggering proportions. Already nearly 200,000 refugees are reported, 58,000 in Saigon and its suburbs, and the total is expected to double or triple when all reports are in.

Fresh Attacks
From the northern sector of South Vietnam came reports of fresh mortar and ground attacks on government district headquarters and army units.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says the massive Viet Cong attacks reveal the "deadly apathy" of the South Vietnamese. Presidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon, at the same time, said Americans aren't being kept fully informed about the war's progress. Details may be found on Page 20.

along a wide arc around Da Nang. Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, was placed on "Alert Two," meaning an attack is probable.

U.S. headquarters said elements of the 2nd North Vietnamese Division were between Da Nang and Hoi An, a provincial capital 15 miles to the south. "Which way they will go we don't know. It has a potential of some magnitude," a spokesman said.

The air war against North Vietnam, overshadowed for a week by the Communist offensive against South Vietnamese cities and towns, returned to the headlines with a U.S. announcement that an American Thunderchief jet and a North Vietnamese MIG21 were shot down in aerial duels northwest of Hanoi Monday.

Pilot Missing
The Thunderchief pilot is missing. His plane was the 797th U.S. combat plane officially reported lost over the North and the 46th brought down by a MIG in the Vietnam war. The MIG21 was the 106th Communist jet claimed by American fliers in combat over North Vietnam.

U.S. planes flew 72 missions against North Vietnam and the old operation by U.S. paratroopers and air cavalrymen in an area 25 to 35 miles south of the DMZ to take some of the pressure off threatened Quang Tri and Thua Thien provinces. U.S. headquarters said the Army troops have killed 578 of the enemy and captured 89 weapons, while U.S. losses were put at 23 dead and 144 wounded.

Headquarters also reported that U.S. Marines killed 295 Communist troops and captured 116 weapons in a two-day fight seven miles below the eastern edge of the DMZ, while 36 Marines were killed and 164 wounded.

One report, withheld for security reasons, disclosed a 15-day-

City Council Faces A Busy Agenda

By HUGH REYNOLDS

The Common Council has a heavy agenda at tonight's meeting including the consideration of Department of Public Works requests for the purchase of almost $125,000 in new equipment. The aldermen meet at 7:30 p. m. in the Council chambers, third floor, city hall.

Tops on the BPW request list is an excavator to be purchased from the H. O. Penn Company for $23,237, including interest.

The aldermen will also consider a bond issue from the BPW for $98,838. This includes a tractor shovel at $22,485, two six-yard dump trucks at $24,680, one hydraulic pipe cleaner at $15,795, and one self-propelled conveyor - type snow and material loader at $19,405.

The city will also receive a notice from Elias Jacobs of Stamford on behalf of his client, Mrs. Mary Irene Warnitz, who is suing the city for $101,500 for false arrest. According to the notice from Jacobs, Mrs. Warnitz was arrested at her place of business, Wagner's Delicatessen, 734 Broadway, on Nov. 10, 1967.

There will also be a letter from the Kingston Housing Authority asking the approval of salary schedules for its employees. The city does not pay any of the salaries but by law must approve the salary schedules. Proposals include the following salaries: housing manager, $9,000-$12,500; Clerk-typist, $4,050-$5,050; maintenance mechanic, $4,750-$5,750; maintenance laborers, $4,250-$5,250.

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan's appointment of John Haulenbeck of 278 Washington Avenue to the Housing Codes Commission will be noted. The appointment will expire on May 6 of this year.

Letters will be received from at least three aldermen. Frank Jablonski (R-Fourth Ward) has a letter criticizing skating facilities at Kingston and Loughran Parks and Dietz Stadium.

Alderman Peter Fisher (R-10th Ward) has a letter asking for the delaying of the enactment of the city sales tax from March 1 to July 1. Fisher also has a resolution calling for the establishment of snow streets in the city.

Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) is expected to read a letter from the Rondout Community Action Committee requesting the naming of the proposed Rondout Recreation Center after the late Albert Brown, city patrolman and former Rondout Community organizer killed in an auto accident last year.

There is also a resolution calling for the standardization of traffic control equipment. The city has been purchasing traffic control equipment from the Marbelite Company and its aluminum light poles from the Pfaff and Kendall company.

There is also a letter from George Odell of 128 Tremper protesting about the city rock salt piles across the street from his home on Tremper Avenue.

Weekly Lottery Possible

12 Called on Campus Drugs

Prospects of state lottery drawings once a week to pump new life into the sagging enterprise, and easing the "scarce tactics" used to discourage uses of drugs on college campuses, were highlighted during sessions of State Legislative groups in Albany on Monday.

Meanwhile, in New York City, according to the Associated Press, State Supreme Court Justice Sauli S. Streit ordered 12 staff members of the State University's Stony Brook campus to appear Wednesday before a state body probing use of drugs at the school.

Travia Willing
Counsel for the 12 said he would appeal the ruling to the Appellate Division today.

Commenting on the lottery proposal, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's foremost Democrat, said, "I'd go along with that (weekly drawings) if the commissioner thought it would help." His comment was in response to a question put by the AP.

Travia quickly added, however, that he wanted answers to several other questions before he could endorse other provisions of legislation advanced by Governor Rockefeller in a move to organize legislative sales of $1 lottery tickets thus far.

The Republican governor has offered the Legislature a proposal designed to increase lottery revenue from the $10 million for nine months in fiscal year 1967-68 to $45 million in the next fiscal year. The measure, among other things, would authorize drawings as often as once a week and greatly expand the number of sales outlets for tickets.

Apprised of Travia's views on the possible increased frequency of drawings, State Tax Commissioner Joseph Murphy said his department was contemplating an increase to twice-a-month drawings. He said lottery revenues would continue to decline for January but that he harbored hopes of increased yields if the lawmakers agreed to expand ticket outlets and the number of drawings.

Budget Hearings
High-level deliberations on the lottery formed part of the Legislature's fiscal activity as the Senate and Assembly financial committees prepared to conduct hearings Wednesday and Thursday on Rockefeller's $5.5 billion budget.

The specter of narcotics raids on campuses is cutting off communications between college students and administrators and narcotic-control officials, a legislative committee was warned.

Dutchess County District Attorney John R. Heilman Jr., told the Joint Legislative Committee on Higher Education that "scarce tactics" used to discourage drug use have caused communications problems between students and government agencies.

In addition, Heilman said, "we found that college officials did not know where to go to take care of drug problems." They feared that, by going to the police, they would jeopardize "any dialogue they had with their students," Heilman explained.

The committee held a day-long hearing on drug use on State University campuses. The committee chairman, Assemblyman Joseph Kottler, D-Brooklyn, has said he will introduce a bill to enable the state to study the extent and effects of marijuana use.

Dr. Clifton Thorne, vice-president of student affairs at the State University at Albany, told the legislators students there were asking him "every day" whether the campus may be raided. Last month's raid at Stony Brook campus has made Albany students afraid to go to parties, Thorne said. "They do not want to be anywhere where students could be arrested for using marijuana."

Heilman said efforts have been launched in Dutchess County to close the gap between students and narcotics officials.

A Complaint in Seoul Over the Pueblo Talks

By K. C. HWANG

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea complained officially to the United States today about its negotiations with the North Koreans to get the crew of the USS Pueblo released. A South Korean protest note threatened independent action unless the United States paid more attention to the Communist threat to South Korea.

Envoy Called Home
Government sources said the South Korean ambassador to the United States, Kim Dong-jo, has been called home and is expected to be given fresh instructions for dealing with Washington.

In the South Korean view, the United States should pay more attention to the constant infiltration of North Korean guerrillas across the demilitarized zone and the commando attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park than to the seizure of the Pueblo and its 83 crewmen. U.S. State Department officials in Washington, meanwhile, said there was no truth to a report by South Korean sources that the body of one dead Pueblo sailor had been handed over to American officials. And Secretary of State Dean Rusk dismissed reports in the South Korean press that the United States would apologize to North Korea for the Pueblo's alleged "intrusion" into North Korean waters in exchange for the release of the surviving crewmen.

The growing tension between the U.S. and South Korean governments produced the first anti-American demonstration in Seoul in five years. About 50 placard-carrying students from Chungang University paraded outside the U.S. Embassy, denouncing the secret U.S.-North Korean talks and urging the United States to "immediately stop its appeasement policy" toward North Korea.

Meanwhile, Premier Chung Il-kwon handed a protest note to U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter registering official opposition to the secret U.S.-North Korean talks at the truce village of Panmunjon.

Coon New President

YMCA's $1,860,000 Campaign Launched

By CHARLES BERMPHOIL

A YMCA building campaign kickoff dinner at the Governor Clinton Hotel last night saw Paul Coon elected president of the "Y" and a $9,000 donation from the Catholic Archdiocese of New York, and building campaign chairman N. LeVan Haver refer to the $1,860,000 drive as "this most worthy effort."

Also elected and installed as officers for the "Y" were Ernest E. Schurmer and Robert O'Reilly, vice presidents; Mrs. John Wilkie, secretary; Minford Overfield, treasurer, and Chester A. Baltz Jr., assistant treasurer.

Coon is chairman of public relations for the campaign. He succeeds Ralph Stewart as president. Coon is manager of the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

The $3,000 donation from the New York Archdiocese was presented by Bishop James E.

McManus, CSsR, episcopal vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

Guest speaker for the event was J. Clinton Hawkins, president of the "Y" in St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Hawkins spoke to the enthusiastic crowd and said that there were two things the "Y" had to be aware of in the years to come. "We have to keep an eye on what is vital to the community" and "We need a spirit of creativity."

The St. Louis president explained that "times change, and what is vital today was not important 10 years ago. But one thing always remains constant—youth."

He mentioned the "generation gap" and the idea that there was "rustiness in our youth."

Hawkins stressed the thought that today's youth "are not all like their fathers," and that "they are more advanced."

He further stated that if there was a "lack of communication between the youths and adults" then the atmosphere must be created to keep open the lines of communication between the generations.

"We don't plan for today's youth but, rather, tomorrow's youth," he said.

Speaking on the creativity theme, Hawkins said that the "Y" had to be "responsive to the needs of today."

He mentioned that the organization's family program was originated "over 30 years ago" to strength the American home.

"There must never be a status quo philosophy in the YMCA," he said.

Hawkins said America "needs the greatest educational system the world over, not because the Russians are competing against us, but because the lack of education breeds prejudice and ignorance and that is against the good life."

"We need the finest culture the world's ever known because a life in appreciation of culture is life lived on the highest level."

He went on to say that a third requirement of the good life is "a deep faith in God, not because of the existence of a Godless China, but because with such a faith men look to the future."

G. Herbert DeKay, president of the "Y" board of trustees and chairman of the building campaign steering committee, presented YMCA Youth of the Year awards to Virginia Hawkins and Gary Schantz.

Miss Hawkins is presently attending Ulster County Community College and plans a career in the "Y." Schantz has been active in the "Y" Leadership Training School and is a member of the soccer and swim teams of Kingston High School.

Charles E. Raible was the master of ceremonies.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, opened with the invocation and Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn of Temple Emanuel closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

In a closing speech, Haver said that he received the shock of his life when he saw the present "Y" building on Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue. With emotion he asked, "Do we think so little of our youngsters that we have to present them with that?"

Haver further said although some people have questioned the wisdom of the high campaign total, "I know we are going to succeed. We are in this and we are in this to win." He said that the new building "has no gingerbread in it—it is functional," and he declared that the building will be meant "to serve all" the residents in the county.

He mentioned the "generational gap" and the idea that there was "restlessness in our youth."

He further stated that if there was a "lack of communication between the youths and adults" then the atmosphere must be created to keep open the lines of communication between the generations.

"We don't plan for today's youth but, rather, tomorrow's youth," he said.

Speaking on the creativity theme, Hawkins said that the "Y" had to be "responsive to the needs of today."

He mentioned that the organization's family program was originated "over 30 years ago" to strengthen the American home.

"There must never be a status quo philosophy in the YMCA," he said.

Hawkins said America "needs the greatest educational system the world over, not because the Russians are competing against us, but because the lack of education breeds prejudice and ignorance and that is against the good life.

"We need the finest culture the world's ever known because a life in appreciation of culture is life lived on the highest level."

He went on to say that a third requirement of the good life is "a deep faith in God, not because of the existence of a Godless China, but because with such a faith men look to the future."

G. Herbert DeKay, president of the "Y" board of trustees and chairman of the building campaign steering committee, presented YMCA Youth of the Year awards to Virginia Hawkins and Gary Schantz.

Miss Hawkins is presently attending Ulster County Community College and plans a career in the "Y." Schantz has been active in the "Y" Leadership Training School and is a member of the soccer and swim teams of Kingston High School.

County Legislators to Receive Proposed Airport Resolution

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

A resolution which will implement the acceptance of a $8,250 federal grant for advanced planning of a proposed county airport will be presented for adoption Thursday, 8 p.m., at the regular meeting of Ulster County Legislature.

The county's share for the study will also be $8,250 bringing the total cost of the study to $16,500. The offer of the grant must be accepted by the county on or before March 15 with payment of the grant not prior to July 1.

The proposal offered by the County Industrial Development Commission calls for site investigation, boundary and topographic surveys, soil analysis, preparation of airport layout plan including preliminary drawings and cost estimates.

The advanced planning proposal for the county airport was recently approved by the Federal Aviation Administration and the FAA has now forwarded the acceptance contract for approval by the county.

Has Been Under Study

The proposal for a county airport has been under study by the County Airport Study Commission, Harry Kaprelian, chairman. The commission is projecting for the eventual construction of an all-weather airport strip between 3,500 to 5,000 feet in length.

A resolution will be presented authorizing the purchase of the Dr. Anthony J. Tocco home on Route 209, Stone Ridge at a cost of $58,000 as a permanent home for Dr. George B. Erbstein, president of Ulster County Community College. The purchase, if approved, will be made from the McDonald De Witt Funds as directed by the donor. The house has 10 rooms and is situated on a 9½-acre tract.

Another resolution to be introduced by Melvin Mones, R-Kingston, will authorize the County Health Department to use state funds to be allocated through the State Health Department totaling $42,970 in a program of rat control. An application for the sum has already been filed. No appropriation is needed from the county.

Three county bridges are subjects of three other resolutions. A resolution filed by Lester C. Elmendorf, R-2nd District, asks the County Legislature to authorize construction of a new bridge to replace the Leggs Mills Bridge No. 152 in Lake Katrine. The one-lane span built in 1891 and regulated by a traffic light at each end has been declared a hazard due to increased traffic. A traffic count conducted Aug. 3, 1966 for a five-hour period showed a total of 1,479 vehicles went over the span or an average of 296 per hour.

Planning for the bridge, costing $15,000, has been completed. Funds for construction may have to be raised by bond issue. A resolution filed by William West, R-Woodstock asks the county to construct barricades across the entrances to the Van Wagner Road Bridge in the Town of Woodstock which spans the Beaver Kill Creek. The resolution cites abandonment of the 25-foot span. A new bridge nearby is now in use.

Lawrence D. Craft, Frank Muller and Robert H. Kuhlmann, Republicans of the 10th District by resolution seeks the county to provide $50,860 to raise the height of the Cape Avenue Bridge in the Village of Ellenville as recommended by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the State Flood Control Commission. The Engineers are engaged in preparing plans for a $2,545,471 flood control program identified as Ellenville North Project, and require raising the level of the span. The resolution if adopted will refer the proposal to the Bridge and Highways Committee for further study.

Proposal Files

Chairman Peter J. Savago, R-New Paltz-Gardiner, has filed a proposal that the Tax Base Study Committee look into the possibility of the county selling documentary stamps to be affixed on documents. The Federal Government has abandoned the selling of documentary stamps as a source of revenue and Savago suggests the county pick up this source of revenue.

Another resolution would authorize Savago to give an easement for $100 on property adjacent to County Road 113 on the north side of Rondout Creek west of the James Street Bridge in the Town of Rosendale. The property is needed for the Rosendale Flood Protection Project on the creek.

A resolution filed by Majority Leader Douglas Dye, R-2nd District, would give permission to the National Camping and Hiking Association to use the county-owned property on the county farm in New Paltz used as the county fair grounds. Use of the property would be subject to the control of the superintendent of county facilities and also provides they will receive appropriate personal liability and property damage insurance.

Kingston, Ellenville and New Paltz Chapters are planning a family camping show April 27 and 28 with free admission and a dance on the 28th.

A resolution by Savago would reclassify Alfonso Sellet from Grade 9 to Grade 11 head maintenance man at an annual salary of $6,930.

There is also some support for a proposed Local Law to close all commercial establishments on Memorial Day as a proper mark of respect to the veterans who have given their lives in the wars in which the United States has been involved.

Sponsored by Williams

The proposal came through Ulster County American Legion and sponsored by former Supervisor Peter M. Williams of Saugerties. The proposal would allow only those establishments normally open on Sundays to be open on Memorial Day.

Resolutions previously announced would provide for preservation of legislative enactments and establishment of a uniform property control system and implementation. One of the three resolutions would provide for authorization of making photostatic copies and placement of enactments in a bound volume similar to deeds in the county clerk's office.

Another previous resolution would propose control in the disposal of any usable equipment discarded by any one department and require notification of the county auditor who will determine if any other department has use of such equipment.

NARCOTICS

More than 300 New Paltz High School students in grades 9 through 12 heard a lecture Friday on narcotics, presented by District Attorney Joseph Torrance and Special Investigator Thomas Mayone during an assembly program in the school. Fight or Flight, the latest film on narcotics, was shown through the courtesy of the Ulster County DA's office. A glass-enclosed display used in the lectures was exhibited showing the appearance of various types of drugs, barbiturates, other stimulants and devices. John L. Wyman, (left), high school principal, greets Torrance and Mayone prior to the lecture. (Freeman photo by Krub).

At Rondout Garden Site

Disagreement Continues

The disagreement between Robie Construction and Teamsters Local 445 continues after a meeting yesterday failed to come off due to an apparent misunderstanding on the time of the meeting.

Robert Marx, president of Robie Construction, contractors for the $1,700,000 Rondout Gardens now under construction by the Kingston Housing Authority in Broadway East, told The Freeman today the meeting was scheduled for 4:30 p. m. at the Holiday Inn in Elmsford.

Marx said he and his lawyer were "less than ten minutes late" for the session, and arrived to find representatives of the Teamsters had left.

The Teamsters claim the meeting was set for 4 p. m. and that they waited a half an hour and left. A Freeman story published Saturday, listed the meeting time as 4 p. m.

Conflicting Stories

The two are in disagreement over Robie's alleged failure to honor a contract. Stories from opposing sides are conflicting.

Anthony Alecca, president of Local 445, told The Freeman Friday that Robie has refused to employ a shop steward to supervise the workers. Alecca said work was curtailed Jan. 5 by Robie but that it has continued, on a minor scale, ever since without the supervision of a shop steward.

Marx's description of the worker under dispute is somewhat different than Alecca's. Marx refers to the man as a truck driver and says he was the only Teamster on the job.

Said Marx today, "We curtailed work in early January due to the weather and had to lay off men who were not productive. One of them was a truck driver. We do not have a truck on the job and we don't need a Teamster to stand around doing nothing for $5 an hour."

Same Position

Marx said that regardless of whether there was a meeting or not, his company's position would remain the same. He said, "We are not going to be coerced. We are going to stand up and be counted on this issue."

Marx also referred to allegations by pickets interviewed on radio broadcasts as to the quality of the work of Robie Construction. Said Marx, "We are going to request transcripts of those broadcasts, and if warranted, go all out on a slander suit."

As of today, no new meetings have been scheduled. Alecca is reportedly out of town as are other Teamsters officials.

The Robie Construction Company is well-known in the area, having recently completed construction of Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge.

GARBAGE, GARBAGE EVERYWHERE — An old man glances over some of the garbage piling up in the streets near his Upper West Side home in New York. In the fourth day of the sanitation worker's strike, Mayor Lindsay warned of the fire hazard presented by accumulating refuse and the Mayor also declared a "limited emergency" at the city's 71 private and municipal hospitals. With garbage piling up at 8,000 tons a day, health officials feared a rat invasion and a state Supreme Court judge refused a union request to delay a show-cause hearing on a back-to-work injunction sought by the city. ## New City Manager For Ellenville

By LYNN MULVANEY

A new manager for the Village of Ellenville was named last night at a meeting of the board. He is John W. Geist, who will assume the post Feb. 12.

A former manager of Hastings-on-Hudson, he comes to Ellenville from West Virginia.

The post, which has been vacant for the past year, was formerly held by John Weichsel who resigned to assume a new position in another locality.

State Aid for Airport

Word was received from Mayor Eugene Glusker, now attending the Mayor's conference at Albany, that the airport at Ellenville, being proposed by Resnick Brothers is eligible for state aid under the new mass transportation bill, according to Ed Hoar, trustee. Although no "formal" application has been made, the Department of Transportation at Albany today said that it had been in touch with Ellenville. According to the department, if application is approved, the airport would be eligible for 75 per cent state aid or 75 per cent of the balance left should the federal government first reimburse 50 per cent of the total cost.

Reportedly, airports in Kingston and New Paltz have also indicated interest in applying for state aid but have not yet made "formal" application.

Discussion was held last night concerning the makeup of a proposed committee to meet with the airport owners, in hopes of seeking a relocation of the facility.

Fulltime Inspector

Appointment of Howard Weiss as fulltime building inspector was announced. Deyo Johnson was named honorary chairman of the Planning Board and Ice Caves Mountain Inc. paid the village $149 in excess of its lease of $3,000.

Approval was given the plans for the Weinsoff and Weinsoff building to be constructed on the urban renewal site at Warren and Main Streets.

Clear Air Committee Sets First Meeting

An organizational meeting to establish, officially, the Ulster County Action for Clean Air Committee, will be held Tuesday, Feb. 20 at 7 p. m. at Britts' Community Room, Kingston Plaza.

A panel discussion will be held with the following participants: Harry H. Hovey Jr., associate director, Division of Air Resources, New York State Department of Health; Vernon Link, M.D., Ulster County Commissioner of Health; Herbert F. Schwartz, M.D., Ulster County chest physician, president emeritus Ulster County TB and Health Association; John B. Plass, M.D., representative of the Ulster County Medical Society and director of the Ulster County Chest Clinic and a representative of the Kingston area Chamber of Commerce.

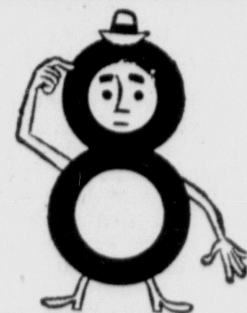

The nominating committee will report, program plans will be divulged and membership in the committee will be registered, according to John M. Robinnis, temporary chairman.

Search Continues For Piper Cub

Civil Air Patrol planes took off again today from airports in Dutchess and Warren Counties in search for a single-engine Piper Arrow plane that has not been seen nor heard from since it left Warren Airport in Glens Falls on Jan. 28 with two persons aboard.

The pilot of the aircraft has been identified as Dan Cronin, and a passenger as Miss Jan Iley. The plane was en route from Montreal, Canada, when it landed at the upstate airport and later took off in freezing rain for Teterboro, N. J.

Leeds state police said the CAP planes were expected to cover the Tannersville area where several planes have crashed in recent years.

At Rondout Garden Site

Disagreement Continues

The disagreement between Robie Construction and Teamsters Local 445 continues after a meeting yesterday failed to come off due to an apparent misunderstanding on the time of the meeting.

Robert Marx, president of Robie Construction, contractors for the $1,700,000 Rondout Gardens now under construction by the Kingston Housing Authority in Broadway East, told The Freeman today the meeting was scheduled for 4:30 p. m. at the Holiday Inn in Elmsford.

Marx said he and his lawyer were "less than ten minutes late" for the session, and arrived to find representatives of the Teamsters had left.

The Teamsters claim the meeting was set for 4 p. m. and that they waited a half an hour and left. A Freeman story published Saturday, listed the meeting time as 4 p. m.

Conflicting Stories

The two are in disagreement over Robie's alleged failure to honor a contract. Stories from opposing sides are conflicting.

Anthony Alecca, president of Local 445, told The Freeman Friday that Robie has refused to employ a shop steward to supervise the workers. Alecca said work was curtailed Jan. 5 by Robie but that it has continued, on a minor scale, ever since without the supervision of a shop steward.

Marx's description of the worker under dispute is somewhat different than Alecca's. Marx refers to the man as a truck driver and says he was the only Teamster on the job.

Said Marx today, "We curtailed work in early January due to the weather and had to lay off men who were not productive. One of them was a truck driver. We do not have a truck on the job and we don't need a Teamster to stand

Same Position

Marx said that regardless of whether there was a meeting or not, his company's position would remain the same. He said, "We are not going to be coerced. We are going to stand up and be counted on this issue."

Marx also referred to allegations by pickets interviewed on radio broadcasts as to the quality of the work of Robie Construction. Said Marx, "We are going to request transcripts of those broadcasts, and if warranted, go all out on a slander suit."

As of today, no new meetings have been scheduled. Alecca is reportedly out of town as are other Teamsters officials.

The Robie Construction Company is well-known in the area, having recently completed construction of Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge.

New City Manager For Ellenville

By LYNN MULVANEY

A new manager for the Village of Ellenville was named last night at a meeting of the board. He is John W. Geist, who will assume the post Feb. 12.

A former manager of Hastings-on-Hudson, he comes to Ellenville from West Virginia.

The post, which has been vacant for the past year, was formerly held by John Weichsel who resigned to assume a new position in another locality.

State Aid for Airport

Word was received from Mayor Eugene Glusker, now attending the Mayor's conference at Albany, that the airport at Ellenville, being proposed by Resnick Brothers is eligible for state aid under the new mass transportation bill, according to Ed Hoar, trustee. Although no "formal" application has been made, the Department of Transportation at Albany today said that it had been in touch with Ellenville. According to the department, if application is approved, the airport would be eligible for 75 per cent state aid or 75 per cent of the balance left should the federal government first reimburse 50 per cent of the total cost.

Reportedly, airports in Kingston and New Paltz have also indicated interest in applying for state aid but have not yet made "formal" application.

Discussion was held last night concerning the makeup of a proposed committee to meet with the airport owners, in hopes of seeking a relocation of the facility.

Fulltime Inspector

Appointment of Howard Weiss as fulltime building inspector was announced. Deyo Johnson was named honorary chairman of the Planning Board and Ice Caves Mountain Inc. paid the village $149 in excess of its lease of $3,000. Approval was given the plans for the Weiss and Weiss building to be constructed on the urban renewal site at Warren and Main Streets.

GARBAGE, GARBAGE EVERYWHERE — An old man glances over some of the garbage piling up in the streets near his Upper West Side home in New York. In the fourth day of the sanitation worker's strike, Mayor Lindsay warned of the fire hazard presented by accumulating refuse and the Mayor also declared a "limited emergency" at the city's 71 private and municipal hospitals. With garbage piling up at 8,000 tons a day, health officials feared a rat invasion and a state Supreme Court judge refused a union request to delay a show-cause hearing on a back-to-work injunction sought by the city. ## Clear Air Committee Sets First Meeting

An organizational meeting to establish, officially, the Ulster County Action for Clean Air Committee, will be held Tuesday, Feb. 20 at 7 p. m. at Britts' Community Room, Kingston Plaza.

A panel discussion will be held with the following participants: Harry H. Hovey Jr., associate director, Division of Air Resources, New York State Department of Health; Vernon Link, M.M., Ulster County Commissioner of Health; Herbert F. Schwartz, M.D., Ulster County chest physician, president emeritus Ulster County TB and Health Association; John B. Plass, M.D., representative of the Ulster County Medical Society and director of the Ulster County Chest Clinic and a representative of the Kingston area Chamber of Commerce.

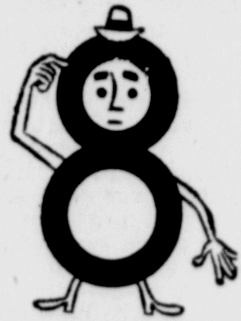

The nominating committee will report, program plans will be divulged and membership in the committee will be registered, according to John M. Robinnis, temporary chairman.

Whatever Happened to Tet?

The Communists want to observe a full week's truce for their Lunar New Year, Tet. Instead, a suicide company of Vietcong guerrillas wearing South Vietnamese Army uniforms smashed into the U.S. embassy compound in Saigon on the eve of Tet. Other suicide patrols assaulted provincial capitals throughout the country, with more or less success.

It was a planned, deliberate break of the truce the Communists had announced. It was a nationwide horror, especially bad for civilians who were brutally slaughtered in many cities that had escaped war for many months. American intelligence had an inkling of what was afoot, but not the extent of it, and not the ferocity of it.

The Communists paid dearly for their boldness. Their losses in the first 48 hours ran 10 to 1 for those of the Americans and South Vietnamese.

Gen. William Westmoreland, the American field commander, called it a preliminary to the big battle on the demilitarized zone. There the Communists have been building supplies and men for weeks. If they commit them all to the impending battle, it will be the biggest of the war. It could be the showdown battle.

The suicide assaults on the eve of Tet, the capture of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo off North Korea, even the stepped up fighting in Laos and Thailand are all a part of the strategy for this showdown battle. They were to divert our planning and manpower from the Vietnam DMZ while North Vietnam built for this battle.

Westmoreland is ready for them. He says already he has taken the initiative after the Tet eve assaults. He has been building up the defenses in the northeast sections of South Vietnam for whatever may come. Violating the Tet will be bad luck for the Communists, he promises. We hope he is right and the climactic battle will persuade North Vietnam there is no way to avoid the military defeat Westmoreland has fashioned for her.

Income Averaging Benefits

For some years, the impression has been that income-averaging to save income taxes is a device for sports figures, entertainers, artists, authors, people in glamorous callings who suddenly strike it rich after years of lean pickings. The truth is that the tax-saving device applies to just about anyone who can qualify.

The Internal Revenue Service has a brochure, "Income Tax Averaging" available for the asking. Together with a Schedule G form, a taxpayer can quickly determine his eligibility to this boon. In fact, if he thinks he is eligible, the taxpayer can affirm or disapprove this by filling Schedule G. He will soon find if this averageable income for four past years is $3,000 or more, which would qualify him.

For instance, assume he had taxable income of $2,000 in 1963, $4,000 in each of 1964 and 1965, $5,000 in 1966, a four-year total of $15,000; then $12,000 in 1967. Subtracting $5,000 or 1/3 of the $15,000 earnings of the first four years from the $12,000 earned in 1967, the balance of $7,000 is well over the qualifying $3,000.

The rules are complex. It is wise to consult an internal revenue office, once you find you are eligible by filling out Schedule G. Remember, you don't have to be in a glamour calling to qualify—you just have to have a sizable rise in income last year that puts you far above a third of the total of the previous four years, to get the income averaging benefit.

The New Geography

It is not surprising that this rocket age should spawn a new discipline, the new geography. If the old geography was characterized by the spinning blue-brown-green globe, representing the earth, the computer and the rocket flying into space in search of the limits of the universe are typical of the new geography.

Geography, old style, singled out the continents and their oceans, the nations and their capitals, and the products thereof. Geography, new style, is concerned with how man organizes and uses terrestrial space, space program hardware as a tool for collecting geographical data, and the development of urban social and economic planning.

The new geography changes the emphasis and broadens the horizon. The new curricula is being developed by the Commission on College Geography for the National Science Foundation and the Association of American Geographers. Its aim is the study of the universe as a total system. As such, it promises to be in step with the unfolding knowledge developed by space scientists.

American reaction to the protraction of the war is not the kind of impatience the Communists look for. Instead, polls show almost two out of three Americans want the war escalated to convince Communists they can't win. There is little quit sentiment.

"Think It'll Hold?"

David Lawrence Says

Form New Alliance If UN Doesn't Act

This isn't the first time the United States has found itself enmeshed in a war thousands of miles away which can affect its future security and destiny.

Nor is it the first time that superficial criticism, unfamiliarity with the true significance of our government's action and exhibitions of political partisanship have made difficult here at home the formulation of a constructive policy.

What America needs most in the Asian crisis is unity among its people and a greater display of friendship and positive action by the many nations abroad which have not yet come to realize that the Vietnamese situation is a world problem.

The events of the last few days have dramatized the fact that Vietnam's troubles are not going to be solved simply by military action within its own borders, though the need for an offensive strategy has been accentuated. Likewise, the talk of "Peace Negotiations" has proved fruitless.

The main responsibility lies with the sponsors of the banditry who openly admitted their status as belligerents. Moscow has sent billions of dollars of war supplies, and Peking has aided conspirators and infiltrators, up whom the blame for the conduct of the guerrilla war in Vietnam rests. Tied in with the whole situation, of course, are the North Korean raids on South Korea. What can be done? The United States has pleaded in vain with the United Nations. That organization today is frustrated. The small nations cast a majority vote and could change the whole face of things, but they fear the antagonism of the communist regimes with their far-flung power to subvert and overthrow local governments.

So the free countries will have to unite and in a concerted way compel both Moscow and Peking to halt their mischief-making. This does not mean merely the use of military force in a broader war. It does mean a recognition at last that economic measures can become a powerful influence in shaping the course of hostile governments.

The United States can form a new group of allies and call for support first of a worldwide economic blockade of North Vietnam and then, if necessary, a cut-off of all trade with the Communist countries which are directly or indirectly supporting the war in southeast Asia.

It is tragic to note that, despite the sacrifices which 500,000 Americans in our armed services in Vietnam are called upon to make, there is no blockade by sea in the waters surrounding the battle region. A new international alliance could demand abstinence from the war by the Russians and Red Chinese or else impose drastic restrictions on trade between the free world and the major countries on the Communist side. The latter co-manage the highly organized system of guerrilla warfare which is challenging the United States and its allies in Vietnam.

This could eventually require the declaration of "a state of war" so as to make lawful the interception at sea of merchant ships carrying to North Vietnam supplies of a military nature or products from which munitions can be made. If the United States did outline such a policy in public after enlisting the help of free countries from all parts of the world, it is possible that the Peking and Moscow governments would soon begin to extricate themselves from the Vietnam dilemma.

But one thing is clear—the United States cannot retreat and cannot ignore the part that Communist governments are playing in the build-up of North Vietnamese forces. Not only are the troops of this country and its allies being killed, but tens of thousands of Vietnamese civilians are being victimized.

If ever there was a basis for intervention by the United Nations—such as happened when "peacekeeping" task forces were sent into Africa—the Vietnam situation affords such a case today. If the United Nations fails, this inevitably will call for the creation of a new international alliance. Otherwise, all of Asia and perhaps the people of other continents as well will be subjected to the guerrilla type of savagery and inhumanity.

Cong Purges Underground

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Asian contacts who have worked with Ho Chi Minh in the past have told this reporter they believe the suicide attacks in Saigon and other major South Vietnamese cities were part of General Giap's program for reorganizing the Viet Cong underground in the South.

That underground political structure had deteriorated in the past two years as the VC invested heavily in a military attempt to bring down the Saigon government and discourage the Americans.

In the process of that deterioration and as a result of American and Vietnamese counterintelligence efforts, considerable numbers of the Communist underground had become known to the U. S. authorities. In intelligence terms, numbers of these Red agents had lost their cover. Others had become ineffective.

In preparation for the long underground war they now see ahead (negotiations or no negotiations, coalition government or no coalition government), the Communist Viet Cong higher command has now apparently decided it must rebuild its shadow government to rule underground in those populated city areas in which the South Vietnamese government is strong "aboveground."

To that end, new men and women of considerable ability have been quietly groomed by the VC over the last 8-to-12 months for major shadow-government roles in the cities.

The underground organization will, if possible, gradually be built so strong that its orders will prevail even where South Vietnamese and American military forces control the terrain militarily, as in Saigon and Hue.

To achieve an effective shadow government, however, it is not enough to bring in better underground political, economic, propaganda and guerrilla agents, administrators and organizers. There must concurrently be a clean-out of all old Red agents and operators who have bumbled badly or who have been compromised by the espionage programs of South Vietnamese and American counterintelligence groups. Otherwise, the bumblers and those who have lost their cover could be used to lead the South Vietnamese and Americans to the new underground leadership now being organized in the cities.

At the same time, those who are genuine nationalists and not hard-core Communists must be eliminated from key leadership posts in both city and rural undergrounds. To Ho's strategists, this all added up to a cleanup in the Viet Cong underground.

The traditional Communist technique for eliminating men who have outlived their usefulness is to murder them, report them to the enemy for disposal or use them in suicide missions aimed at promoting the over-all objectives of the party. In the suicide role the men are told they will die as heroes.

Castro and Ho in their early days consistently killed comrades who were in their way. But Castro as frequently reported his useless men to Batista and Ho quite often reported his rejects to French intelligence.

But suicide squads make more sense in Communist theory. The men who died in Saigon, for example, terrorized many city folk and made them uncertain of South Vietnamese government or U. S. protection.

According to Communist reasoning this terrorism should have made the average city dweller less willing to endanger his family by co-operating with the South Vietnamese government officials or the Americans. He therefore won't report on VC infiltrators, even if he had a mind to before. Some who have been wavering, now impressed by the VC show of force, may co-operate with the Communists.

Those among the Saigon officials, merchants, officers and teachers who had been co-operating with the Viet Cong but who had been toying with making a break, may now be afraid, too. They'll not be certain which night the VC will come again or where Saigon businessmen who had been slow in paying VC-assessed "taxes" may hurry up their payments.

Thus, the Viet Cong have set the base for their continuing underground buildup in the cities.

Drew Pearson Says Drug Industry Doesn't Warn Doctors of Dangerous Drugs

WASHINGTON — Failure of the drug industry to warn doctors regarding the use of untried and dangerous drugs will be highlighted in testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Drugs today.

Preliminary investigation shows that doctors rely almost entirely on the drug industry to inform them as to when a drug is dangerous. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., chairman of the subcommittee, contends that some drug companies have been negligent, have featured drug advertising more than drug warnings.

As an illustration, Sen. Nelson points to Parke, Davis and Company, sole manufacturers of chloromycetin, and the manner in which doctors have continued to prescribe it for minor ailments when it should be used only for such rare diseases as typhoid. Rocky Mountain spotted fever and, in some cases, urinary tract infection.

Yet Parke Davis has continued to advertise it so widely in medical journals that in 1961 chloromycetin constituted 31 per cent of all Parke Davis sales, totalling $59 million. Sen. Nelson also claims that Parke Davis has not carried a warning in British medical journals and in other advertising outside the United States that chloromycetin can be dangerous.

Yet Harry J. Loynd, president of Parke Davis, has admitted to Sen. Nelson that prior to 1960 its use had resulted in 25 damage suits, including a record judgment of $334,000 awarded to Mrs. Carney Love of Palo Alto, Calif. Mrs. Love's doctor had prescribed chloromycetin for a sore gum after a tooth extraction, and it gave her aplastic anemia.

In another tragic case, the 19-year-old daughter of Edgar F. Elstrom, publisher of the Fullerton, Calif., News-Tribune, died after taking chloromycetin prescribed by her doctor for a minor urinary infection.

Senate testimony has shown that though chloromycetin should be prescribed in only a few hundred cases a year, actually it was prescribed in four million cases a year. Approximately 60 patients died needlessly.

Examining Dr. Leslie Lueck of Parke, Davis, Sen. Nelson showed him an advertisement in the British Medical Journal of Feb. 11, 1967.

"That British ad does not have any warning in it at all," the Senator said. "It says 'clinically unexcelled.'"

Nelson went on to read the British Parke, Davis ad recommending chloromycetin as possessing "extremely high anti-microbial activity... rapidly absorbed and bacterial resistance is minimal... therapy with chloromycetin generally results in prompt response and rapid recovery."

"No warning at all in that ad," remarked Sen. Nelson. "How do you explain that?"

The warning requirements on chloromycetin are different in practically every country of the world," Lueck replied. "Parke, Davis and Company has always met all the requirements of whatever country we distributed our products in. These ads, as far as I know, met all of those requirements."

"Well, the effect of the drug is the same on people in other countries as it is here, is it not?" asked Sen. Nelson.

"Largely," replied Lueck.

"That sure shocks me," said the Senator from Wisconsin.

"What the witness says is, 'We will meet the standards of the country where the drug is sold.' That means of course there is not a single underdeveloped country in the world that has any defense against exploitation of their people for profit by the American corporation which does not warn them of the serious, mighty serious, fatal, possibly, consequences here."

"You are indicting every drug company in Great Britain and the United States," replied Dr. Lueck.

"Any company that would do that, I would be pleased to indict," replied Nelson. "I think they ought to be indicted."

"Where the country is not protected, you tell us you have no compunction about running an ad that will fool a doctor as you did in California... I should think you people would not be able to sleep at night."

Members of Congress are the No. 1 squawkers about the credibility gap and suppression of the news. Yet they are frequently the biggest offenders. Here is a case in point.

Rep. Jamie Whitten of Mississippi is now sitting on a report on poultry inspection prepared by the Department of Agriculture.

The report, prepared in 1964, shows that while the federal government is doing a good job of inspecting interstate poultry plants, the states have fallen down on the inspection of intrastate plants. And there are many poultry plants in the nation which operate only within state borders, therefore do not get the benefit of Department of Agriculture inspection.

Conditions in some of these intrastate plants are similar to the scandalous condition of intrastate meat packing plants which Congress, after some prodding, finally moved to remedy last year.

Reps. Neal Smith of Iowa and Daniel Foley of Washington, both Democrats, want to improve the inspection of intrastate poultry. However, their colleague from Mississippi, Jamie Whitten, will not cooperate by releasing the results of the Agriculture Department's questionnaire.

No military secrets are involved. The security of the nation is not at stake, only the health of the nation. It's a matter in which the American people are entitled to know the facts. Nevertheless, Rep. Whitten will not turn loose the facts.

Romulo Betancourt, the former president of Venezuela, who gave that country its first real democratic government in this century, has returned to this country. It was the first visit after five years of voluntary absence.

The man who threw out dictator Perez Jimenez arrived in New York Monday, and will leave shortly for Puerto Rico for a brief stop en route to Caracas. He is an old friend of ex-Governor Luis Munoz Marin and spent some time in Puerto Rico in exile, until asked by the Eisenhower administration to leave.

His absence from Venezuela has been entirely voluntary, in order not to cramp the style of his good friend and successor, President Raul Leoni. But, with elections coming up this year, Betancourt has decided to return, and has timed his visit to coincide with the meeting of the Accion Democratica party, beginning this week, to nominate a candidate for president.

Betancourt is bringing with him his new wife, Rene Jermain, the noted psychiatrist, with whom he has been living in Italy. He and the first Mrs. Betancourt separated shortly after he retired from the Presidency. She left Caracas, in order not to embarrass the new Senora Betancourt.

Candidates for the nomination of Accion Democratica, the majority party in Venezuela, include Gonzalo Barrios, secretary general of the party; Leopoldo Sucre Figueiro, minister of public works; and Leandro Mora, minister of the interior. Barrios is considered most likely to get the nomination.

Betancourt's return to Venezuela may coincide closely with the final sentencing of his mortal enemy, ex-President Perez Jimenez, now in a Caracas jail.

Perez Jimenez fled to the United States after he was ousted, figuring on friendly treatment from the Eisenhower administration, which had awarded him a decoration.

However, the Kennedy administration, which came into power shortly thereafter, was not friendly. It put the Venezuelan ex-dictator in jail, within state borders, therefore do not get the benefit of Department of Agriculture inspection.

Reports are that he is feeling much happier in Caracas, even though still behind bars. Venezuela jails are a lot more comfortable than Florida jails.

Perez Jimenez has been found guilty on a charge of stealing funds from the Venezuelan government. He has remained in jail partly because of various stalling motions by his own counsel, which has filed appeal after appeal—in part motivated by the possibility that a coup d'etat might bring another government into power.

No more appeals are now before the court, and sentence is expected shortly. It is probable that the court will give Perez Jimenez the number of years he has already been in jail—namely, about seven. This will permit him to be released; and under Venezuelan law he will be able to engage in politics again, could participate in the upcoming election.

However, it's predicted that, since he is reported to have a large amount of money reposing in Swiss banks, he will leave for Europe to live in exile.

'Pork Barrel' Runneth Over For Arkansas, Mills State

By SAUL FRIEDMAN
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Despite harsh cuts in proposed spending throughout the federal government, the "pork barrel" runneth over for the state of Arkansas—home of Capitol Hill's leading advocate of economy.

In the President's budget, the Corps of Engineers requested $141,200,000 (M) for work on Arkansas' waterways—much more than in any other state.

Indeed, Arkansas' nearest competitor is the state of Washington, for which the engineers asked appropriations of $95,000,000 (M).

However, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D.), chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, whose home is Kenett, Ark. (population 900) singlehandedly has a blocked President's Johnson's request for a tax increase with demands for deeper spending cuts.

The President did cut. But not in Arkansas.

In its total budget for the 1969 fiscal year, beginning July 1, the engineers slashed spending proposals nearly $64,000,000 (M) below 1968, asking for $94,000,000 for general construction, compared to $97,500,000 (M).

Throughout their long list of rivers, harbors and waterways projects, which is referred to as the "pork barrel," the engineers cut back on the pace of construction to save money.

In Arkansas the pace quickened. A few weeks before the budget was sent to Congress, the White House, which has been battling Mills over the tax bill, called him to say that Corps of Engineers construction funds in Arkansas might have to be reduced.

The conversation that transpired is not known. But a source at the Corps of Engineers said that while its initial budget request to the White House was cut sharply before it was sent to Congress, Arkansas' cuts were minimal.

In the President's budget, engineer requests for work on channels and harbors were cut from $83,000,000 (M) last year to $74,200,000 (M). The single Arkansas project, this category got an increase of $600,000.

Requests for funds to be spent on locks and dams were cut back from $180,800,000 (M) to $163,000,000 (M). Money for Arkansas' projects was increased from $88,300,000 (M) to $89,200,000 (M), and accounted for more than half the entire appropriations request in that category.

While funds for flood protection were reduced over the nation from $141,400,000 (M) to $121,800,000 (M), Arkansas' three small projects held their own or were increased.

The only category of construction in which requests for funds were increased over 1968 was reservoirs. Arkansas' funds were likewise increased by about $3,000,000 (M).

A spokesman for the Corps of Engineers said Arkansas fared so much better than any other state because of the Arkansas River Development Project.

The controversial project, which may cost more than a billion dollars before it is done, was begun under pressure from Mills and the late Sen. Robert Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat. The project's goal is to join Little Rock, Ark., and Tulsa, Okla., with the Mississippi River, by way of the Arkansas River.

"The Arkansas River project is the only one of its size in the nation," said the Corps spokesman. "That's why Arkansas' share of the construction budget is so high."

He acknowledged, however, that more than a score of other projects scheduled for the state were not directly connected with the Arkansas River project and could have been deferred along with projects in other states.

"Sometimes it costs more to put a project in mothballs than continuing it," he added, "because natural elements damage work only partially done."

If that is so, he was asked, then why were projects outside of Arkansas deferred? "We dealt with each project on its individual merits," he said. "The decision does not represent state influence as far as the Corps is concerned. But we can't speak for the White House."

The White House had no comment. A spokesman for Mills said most of the 31 projects scheduled for the state were not in his district, which includes Little Rock.

However, the Corps of Engineers spokesman said almost all the work in the Arkansas River project in Mills' district is already done. That which remains to be done, however, directly effects projects in Mills' district.

Asked if Mills, in the interest of economy, might ask Congress to cut the budget request (Congress raised it last year, while Mills campaigned for spending cuts), an aide answered: "The Congressman would be hesitant to ask for cuts in projects outside his district. It would be presumptuous."

Besides Arkansas and Washington (whose interests are represented by Sen. Warren Magnuson, a Democrat, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, which oversees power projects and waterway transportation), other states favored at the pork barrel include Montana ($67,300,000), home of Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield; Illinois ($66,600,000), home of Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen; Oklahoma ($60,200,000), which has a piece of the Arkansas River action; and Texas ($58,000,000).

Whatever Happened to Tet?

The Communists wanted to observe a full week's truce for their Lunar New Year, Tet. Instead, a suicide company of Vietcong guerrillas wearing South Vietnamese Army uniforms smashed into the U.S. embassy compound in Saigon on the eve of Tet. Other suicide patrols assaulted provincial capitals throughout the country, with more or less success.

It was a planned, deliberate break of the truce the Communists had announced. It was a nationwide horror, especially bad for civilians who were brutally slaughtered in many cities that had escaped war for many months. American intelligence had an inkling of what was afoot, but not the extent of it, and not the ferocity of it.

The Communists paid dearly for their boldness. Their losses in the first 48 hours ran 10 to 1 for those of the Americans and South Vietnamese.

Gen. William Westmoreland, the American field commander, called it a preliminary to the big battle on the demilitarized zone. There the Communists have been building supplies and men for weeks. If they commit them all to the impending battle, it will be the biggest of the war. It could be the showdown battle.

The suicide assaults on the eve of Tet, the capture of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo off North Korea, even the stepped up fighting in Laos and Thailand are all a part of the strategy for this showdown battle. They were to divert our planning and manpower from the Vietnam DMZ while North Vietnam built for this battle.

Westmoreland is ready for them. He says already he has taken the initiative after the Tet eve assaults. He has been building up the defenses in the northeast sections of South Vietnam for whatever may come. Violating the Tet will be bad luck for the Communists, he promises. We hope he is right and the climactic battle will persuade North Vietnam there is no way to avoid the military defeat Westmoreland has fashioned for her.

Income Averaging Benefits

For some years, the impression has been that income-averaging to save income taxes is a device for sports figures, entertainers, artists, authors, people in glamorous callings who suddenly strike it rich after years of lean pickings. The truth is that the tax-saving device applies to just about anyone who can qualify.

The Internal Revenue Service has a brochure, "Income Tax Averaging" available for the asking. Together with a Schedule G form, a taxpayer can quickly determine his eligibility to this boon. In fact, if he thinks he is eligible, the taxpayer can affirm or disapprove this by filling Schedule G. He will soon find if this averageable income for four past years is $3,000 or more, which would qualify him.

For instance, assume he had taxable income of $2,000 in 1963, $4,000 in each of 1964 and 1965, $5,000 in 1966, a four-year total of $15,000; then $12,000 in 1967. Subtracting $5,000 or 1/3 of the $15,000 earnings of the first four years from the $12,000 earned in 1967, the balance of $7,000 is well over the qualifying $3,000.

The rules are complex. It is wise to consult an internal revenue office, once you find you are eligible by filling out Schedule G. Remember, you don't have to be in a glamour calling to qualify—you just have to have a sizable rise in income last year that puts you far above a third of the total of the previous four years, to get the incoming averaging benefit.

The New Geography

It is not surprising that this rocket age should spawn a new discipline, the new geography. If the old geography was characterized by the spinning blue-brown-green globe, representing the earth, the computer and the rocket flying into space in search of the limits of the universe are typical of the new geography.

Geography, old style, singled out the continents and their oceans, the nations and their capitals, and the products thereof. Geography, new style, is concerned with how man organizes and uses terrestrial space, space program hardware as a tool for collecting geographical data, and the development of urban social and economic planning.

The new geography changes the emphasis and broadens the horizon. The new curricula is being developed by the Commission on College Geography for the National Science Foundation and the Association of American Geographers. Its aim is the study of the universe as a total system. As such, it promises to be in step with the unfolding knowledge developed by space scientists.

American reaction to the protraction of the war is not the kind of impatience the Communists look for. Instead, polls show almost two out of three Americans want the war escalated to convince Communists they can't win. There is little quit sentiment.

"Think It'll Hold?"

David Lawrence Says

Form New Alliance If UN Doesn't Act

This isn't the first time the United States has found itself enmeshed in a war thousands of miles away which can affect its future security and destiny.

Nor is it the first time that superficial criticism, unfamiliarity with the true significance of our government's action and exhibitions of political partisanship have made difficult here at home the formulation of a constructive policy.

What America needs most in the Asian crisis is unity among its people and a greater display of friendship and positive action by the many nations abroad which have not yet come to realize that the Vietnamese situation is a world problem.

The events of the last few days have dramatized the fact that Vietnam's troubles are not going to be solved simply by military action within its own borders, though the need for an offensive strategy has been accentuated. Likewise, the talk of "Peace Negotiations" has proved fruitless.

The main responsibility lies with the sponsors of the banditry who openly admitted their status as belligerents. Moscow has sent billions of dollars of war supplies, and Peking has aided conspirators and infiltrators, up whom the blame for the conduct of the guerrilla war in Vietnam rests. Tied in with the whole situation, of course, are the North Korean raids on South Korea.

What can be done? The United States has pleaded in vain with the United Nations. That organization today is frustrated. The small nations cast a majority vote and could change the whole face of things, but they fear the antagonism of the communist regimes with their far-flung power to subvert and overthrow local governments.

The free countries will have to unite and in a concerted way compel both Moscow and Peking to halt their mischief-making.

This does not mean merely the use of military force in a broader war. It does mean a recognition at last that economic measures can become a powerful influence in shaping the course of hostile governments.

The United States can form a new group of allies and call for support first of a worldwide economic blockade of North Vietnam and then, if necessary, a cut-off of all trade with the Communist countries which are directly or indirectly supporting the war in southeast Asia.

It is tragic to note that, despite the sacrifices which 500,000 Americans in our armed services in Vietnam are called upon to make, there is no blockade by sea in the waters surrounding the battle region. A new international alliance could demand abstinence from the war by the Russians and Red Chinese or else impose drastic restrictions on trade between the free world and the major countries on the Communist side. The latter co-manage the highly organized system of guerrilla warfare which is challenging the United States and its allies in Vietnam.

This could eventually require the declaration of "a state of war" so as to make lawful the interception at sea of merchant ships carrying to North Vietnam supplies of a military nature or products from which munitions can be made. If the United States did outline such a policy in public after enlisting the help of free countries from all parts of the world, it is possible that the Peking and Moscow governments would soon begin to extricate themselves from the Vietnam dilemma.

But one thing is clear—the United States cannot retreat and cannot ignore the part that Communist governments are playing in the build-up of North Vietnamese forces. Not only are the troops of this country and its allies being killed, but tens of thousands of Vietnamese civilians are being victimized.

If ever there were a basis for intervention by the United Nations—such as happened when "peacekeeping" task forces were sent into Africa—the Vietnam situation affords such a case today. If the United Nations fails, this inevitably will call for the creation of a new international alliance. Otherwise, all of Asia and perhaps the people of other continents as well will be subjected to the guerrilla type of savagery and inhumanity.

Drew Pearson Says Drug Industry Doesn't Warn Doctors of Dangerous Drugs

WASHINGTON—Failure of the drug industry to warn doctors regarding the use of untried and dangerous drugs will be highlighted in testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Drugs today.

Preliminary investigation shows that doctors rely almost entirely on the drug industry to inform them as to when a drug is dangerous. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., chairman of the subcommittee, contends that some drug companies have been negligent, have featured drug advertising more than drug warnings.

As an illustration, Sen. Nelson points to Parke, Davis and Company, sole manufacturers of chloromycetin, and the manner in which doctors have continued to prescribe it for minor ailments when it should be used only for such rare diseases as typhoid, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and, in some cases, urinary tract infection.

Yet Parke Davis has continued to advertise it so widely in medical journals that in 1961 chloromycetin constituted 31 per cent of all Parke Davis sales, totaling $39 million.

Sen. Nelson also claims that Parke Davis has not carried a warning in British medical journals and in other advertising outside the United States that chloromycetin can be dangerous.

Yet Harry J. Loynd, president of Parke Davis, has admitted to Sen. Nelson that prior to 1960 its use had resulted in 25 damage suits, including a record judgment of $334,000 awarded to Mrs. Carney Love of Palo Alto, Calif. Mrs. Love's doctor had prescribed chloromycetin for a sore gum after a tooth extraction, and it gave her aplastic anemia.

In another tragic case, the 19-year-old daughter of Edgar F. Elfrstrom, publisher of the Fullerton, Calif., News-Tribune, died after taking chloromycetin prescribed by her doctor for a minor urinary infection.

Senate testimony has shown that although chloromycetin should be prescribed in only a few hundred cases a year, actually it was prescribed in four million cases a year. Approximately 60 patients died needlessly.

Examining Dr. Leslie Luck of Parke, Davis, Sen. Nelson showed him an advertisement in the British Medical Journal of Feb. 11, 1967.

"That British ad does not have any warning in it at all," the Senator said. "It says 'clinically unexcelled.'"

Nelson went on to read the British Parke, Davis ad recommending chloromycetin as possessing "extremely high anti-microbial activity... rapidly absorbed and bacterial resistance is minimal... therapy with chloromycetin generally results in prompt response and rapid recovery."

No warning at all in that ad," remarked Sen. Nelson.

"How do you explain that?"

"The warning requirements on chloromycetin are different in practically every country of the world," Luck replied.

"Parke, Davis and Company has always met all the requirements of whatever country we distributed our products in. These ads, as far as I know, met all of those requirements."

"Well, the effect of the drug is the same on people in other countries as it is here, is it not?" asked Sen. Nelson.

"Largely," replied Luck. "That sure shocks me," said the Senator from Wisconsin.

"What the witness says is, 'We'll meet the standards of the country where the drug is sold.' That means of course there is not a single underdeveloped country in the world that has any defense against exploitation of their people for profit by the American corporation which does not warn them of the serious, mighty serious, fatal, possibly, consequences here."

"You are indicting every drug company in Great Britain and the United States," replied Dr. Luck.

"Any company that would do that, I would be pleased to indict," replied Nelson. "I think they ought to be indicted."

"Where the country is not protected, you tell us you have no compunction about running an ad that will fool a doctor as you did in California. ... I should think you people would not be able to sleep at night."

Members of Congress are the No. 1 squawkers about the credibility gap and suppression of the news. Yet they are frequently the biggest offenders. Here is a case in point.

Rep. Jamie Whitten of Mississippi is now sitting on a report on poultry inspection prepared by the Department of Agriculture.

The report, prepared in 1964, shows that while the federal government is doing a good job of inspecting interstate poultry plants, the states have fallen down on the inspection of intrastate plants. And there are many poultry plants in the nation which operate only within state borders, therefore do not get the benefit of Department of Agriculture inspection.

Conditions in some of these intrastate plants are similar to the scandalous condition of intrastate meat packing plants which Congress, after some prodding, finally moved to remedy last year.

Reps. Neal Smith of Iowa and Thomas Foley of Washington, both Democrats, want to improve the inspection of intrastate poultry. However, their colleague from Mississippi, Jamie Whitten, will not cooperate by releasing the results of the Agriculture Department's questionnaire.

No military secrets are involved. The security of the nation is not at stake, only the health of the nation. It's a matter in which the American people are entitled to know the facts. Nevertheless, Rep. Whitten will not turn loose the facts.

Romulo Betancourt, the former president of Venezuela, who gave that country its first real democratic government in this century, has returned to this country. It was the first visit after five years of voluntary absence.

The man who threw out dictator Perez Jimenez arrived in New York Monday, and will leave shortly for Puerto Rico for a brief stop en route to Caracas. He is an old friend of ex-Governor Luis Munoz Marin and spent some time in Puerto Rico in exile, until asked by the Eisenhower administration to leave.

His absence from Venezuela has been entirely voluntary, in order not to cramp the style of his good friend and successor, President Raul Leoni. But, with elections coming up this year, Betancourt has decided to return, and has timed his visit to coincide with the meeting of the Accion Democratica party, beginning this week, to nominate a candidate for president.

Betancourt is bringing with him his new wife, Rene Jermann, the noted psychiatrist, with whom he has been living in Italy. He and the first Mme. Betancourt separated shortly after he retired from the Presidency. She left Caracas, in order not to embarrass the new Senora Betancourt.

Candidates for the nomination of Accion Democratica, the majority party in Venezuela, include Gonzalo Barrios, secretary general of the party; Leopoldo Sucre Figarella, minister of public works; and Leandro Mora, minister of the interior. Barrios is considered most likely to get the nomination.

Betancourt's return to Venezuela may coincide closely with the final sentencing of his mortal enemy, ex-President Perez Jimenez, now in a Caracas jail.

Perez Jimenez fled to the United States after he was ousted, figuring on friendly treatment from the Eisenhower administration, which had awarded him a decoration.

However, the Kennedy administration, which came into power shortly thereafter, was not friendly. It put the Venezuelan ex-dictator in jail. Perez Jimenez languished in jail at Daytona Beach, Fla., for approximately a year before he was extradited to Caracas.

Reports are that he is feeling much happier in Caracas, even though still behind bars. Venezuela jails are a lot more comfortable than Florida jails.

Perez Jimenez has been found guilty on a charge of stealing funds from the Venezuelan government. He has remained in jail partly because of various stalling motions by his own counsel, which has filed appeal after appeal—in part motivated by the possibility that a coup d'etat might bring another government into power.

No more appeals are now before the court, and sentence is expected shortly. It is probable that the court will give Perez Jimenez the number of years he has already been in jail—namely, about seven. Fire Chief Wesley D. Clark said, "I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Ladies Auxiliary for their efforts in furnishing hot drinks and food at the fires and, also, thank the fire commissioners and members of the fire department for their cooperation during the past year."

"Without this cooperation," the letter went on to say, "we would not move ahead and provide the services and protection that means so much to every citizen of the Port Ewen Fire District."

Nixon Estimate:

Wisconsin First Big Test

APPLETON, Wis. (AP) — During his campaigning in Wisconsin, Richard M. Nixon is aiming not only to win the state's presidential primary April 2, but also to capture the farm vote if he becomes the Republican presidential candidate.

Wisconsin will be the first major test of strategy on farm policy," he said.

The former vice president says he places the greatest importance on the farm vote, even though farmers represent only 6 per cent of the work force.

"The farmers' position can make all the difference, and this is an area where I hope to have a new approach," he said.

Nixon went into his second day of courting voters in the Badger State today, embarking on a grueling schedule with Appleton, the State University at Stevens Point, and Fond du Lac on his list.

He prepared a Lincoln Day dinner speech for the third stop, and planned to go on from there to Milwaukee to spend the night.

He called the Wisconsin primary "a critical one" both for him and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In a news conference in Green Bay, Nixon attacked the administration on the question of credibility with respect to the war in Vietnam.

"I believe the administration now should rethink its own internal information in the United States," Nixon said. "I think it's unfortunate that over the past two or three months, we have had these glowing reports out of Washington indicating that the war is going better, or that peace is just around the corner."

He went on to say, "our apparently hard intelligence indicates that not only is the enemy capable of doing what he did in this last offensive, but reading the morning reports, he is capable of doing it again."

"And I think the Johnson administration would be much better advised to tell the American people the truth about the enemy's strength, the enemy's intentions, and then tell the American people that we are not going to cave in to this kind of assault. That message would be agreed that no one in Washington had used exactly these words."

Eight-Point Consumer Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, proclaiming a goal of assuring the consumer "a fair and honest exchange for his hard-earned dollar," sent Congress today a new eight-point consumer protection program.

In his special message, Johnson proposed new laws to set up federal and state inspection of fish, provide for state inspection of poultry, acquire new safeguards against hazardous radiation from television sets and other equipment, and put new teeth into safeguards against home improvement and other sales frauds.

The President also proposed legislation to authorize a comprehensive study of the often-criticized auto insurance business and to set new standards for boating safety.

Johnson also said he will appoint a consumer council at the Justice Department to represent the American customer "in the highest councils of government." And he promised a new study to determine whether federal legislation is needed to police warranties and guarantees.

Johnson seized the opportunity to plug again for his proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge, saying, "All our actions will be in vain if we fail to protect the buying power of every American consumer."

The chief executive also called for a "strong truth-in-lending law," now well on its way to congressional passage. And he urged action on his still-pending 1967 proposals in such areas as pipeline safety, fraudulent land sales, mutual funds and electric power reliability.

Editors Urge Enactment of Record Check
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Society of Newspaper Editors today urged enactment of a broad and enforceable state law that would permit newsmen to inspect the records of public agencies.

Millard Browne of The Buffalo News said that 37 states had adopted such laws and that the New York State Legislature should follow suit.

A resolution calling for adoption of such legislation was approved unanimously by members attending the society's three-day winter meeting, which concluded today.

The editors recommended that the records of all agencies, corporations and authorities of government be open for inspection unless otherwise specified by laws controlling such records as welfare rolls.

The group decided that its summer meeting would be in Garden City at the end of June. The speaker at the morning session was Gen. C.V.R. Schuyler, state commissioner of General Services, who described the development of Albany's South Mall project.

Nixon Estimate:

Wisconsin First Big Test

APPLETON, Wis. (AP) — During his campaigning in Wisconsin, Richard M. Nixon is aiming not only to win the state's presidential primary April 2, but also to capture the farm vote if he becomes the Republican presidential candidate.

Wisconsin will be the first major test of strategy on farm policy," he said.

The former vice president says he places the greatest importance on the farm vote, even though farmers represent only 6 per cent of the work force.

"The farmers' position can make all the difference, and this is an area where I hope to have a new approach," he said.

Nixon went into his second day of courting voters in the Badger State today, embarking on a grueling schedule with Appleton, the State University at Stevens Point, and Fond du Lac on his list.

He prepared a Lincoln Day dinner speech for the third stop, and planned to go on from there to Milwaukee to spend the night.

He called the Wisconsin primary "a critical one" both for him and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In a news conference in Green Bay, Nixon attacked the administration on the question of credibility with respect to the war in Vietnam.

"I believe the administration now should rethink its own internal information in the United States," Nixon said. "I think it's unfortunate that over the past two or three months, we have had these glowing reports out of Washington indicating that the war is going better, or that the war is just around the corner."

He went on to say, "our apparently hard intelligence indicates that not only is the enemy capable of doing what he did in this last offensive, but reading the morning reports, he is capable of doing it again."

"And I think the Johnson administration would be much better advised to tell the American people the truth about the enemy's strength, the enemy's intentions, and then tell the American people that we are not going to cave in to this kind of assault. That message would be much more effective."

Nixon agreed that no one in Washington had used exactly these words.

'Judas Tax' Majestic

On County Sales Levy

Claiming that the average homeowner "would be paying the biggest share" of a county sales tax, Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic said recently that such a home owner would pay "around $70 to $120 per year . . . to save $15 to $120 on his real property tax."

The Democratic supervisor calls a county sales tax a "Judas tax."

Majestic claims that if such a tax were passed "over 90 per cent of the residents or home owners of (the county) would be carrying the tax load for public service, special franchise, vacant lands and commercial property owners (including hotels, motels, shopping centers, apartment houses, cement plants, etc.)."

The supervisor declares that "not one elected official ran on the platform of a county sales tax . . . Therefore, elected officials have the obligation and they are honor-bound to bring the issue of a sales tax in the county or area to the voters on a referendum to be voted on in November, if they feel that it is a necessity."

Majestic noted that five public service facilities in the Town of Gardiner, with a total property valuation of $182,058, "are presently exempt from a state sales tax and would be under the same regulations and exempt from a county or area sales tax."

The facilities referred to by Majestic include the New York Telephone Co., N.Y. Central Railroad, American Telephone and Telegraph, City of New York Board of Water Supply, Central Hudson Gas and Electric, and the Walden Telephone Company.

Majestic believes that these companies would benefit from a county sales tax.

Torino...for people who know there's more to a performance car than painted stripes.

1968 Torino GT Fastback (Top)
1968 Torino GT Hardtop (Bottom)

Anyone can paint stripes on a car. Ford's performance champs earn their stripes the hard way. Torino swept the first five places in the Riverside 500. It's the Pace Car for the Indy 500. It's the hottest-selling new car in the country! Fairlane took first place in its class for braking and for economy in the Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials—in fact, Ford Motor Company cars won more classes than all other manufacturers combined! If it's performance you want, ride with a winner! See the man with Better Ideas . . . your Ford Dealer.

FACTS
1968
TORINO

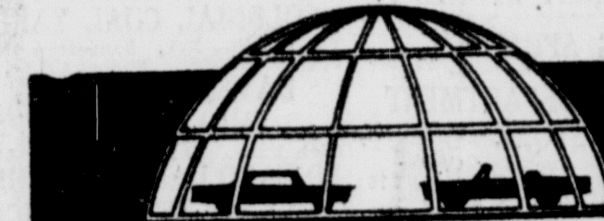

When Torino takes the first five spots in the Riverside 500, first time out, you know it's tough! These cars, of course, were driven by professionals and were modified to meet the special demands of competition. But, the same kind of basic durability and maneuverability are built into every Torino we make. So if you want stripes, get 'em on the car that gives them meaning! Choose from three GT models—fastback, hardtop and convertible.

All with a 289-cu. in. V-8, wall-to-wall carpeting, all-vinyl interiors, styled steel wheels and wide-ovals. Or choose the regular hardtop or 4-door sedan. Like the GT's, they've got a new, longer, 116 in. wheelbase for smoother riding comfort, more room and more trunk space. You can even have a Torino Squire wagon, with 2-way Magic Doorgate. See America's hottest newcomer at your Ford Dealer's soon!

'Judas Tax:' Majestic

On County Sales Levy

Claiming that the average homeowner "would be paying the biggest share" of a county sales tax, Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic said recently that such a home owner would pay "around $70 to $120 per year . . . to save $15 to $120 on his real property tax."

The Democratic supervisor calls a county sales tax a "Judas tax."

Majestic claims that if such a tax were passed "over 90 per cent of the residents or home owners of (the county) would be carrying the tax load for public service, special franchise, vacant lands and commercial property owners (including hotels, motels, shopping centers, apartment houses, cement plants, etc.)."

The supervisor declares that "not one elected official ran on the platform of a county sales tax . . . Therefore, elected officials have the obligation and they are honor-bound to bring the issue of a sales tax in the county or area to the voters on a referendum to be voted on in November, if they feel that it is a necessity."

Majestic noted that five public service facilities in the Town of Gardiner, with a total property valuation of $182,058, "are presently exempt from a state sales tax and would be under the same regulations and ex-empt from a county or area sales tax."

The facilities referred to by Majestic include the New York Telephone Co., N.Y. Central Railroad, American Telephone and Telegraph, City of New York Board of Water Supply, Central Hudson Gas and Electric, and the Walden Telephone Company.

Majestic believes that these companies would benefit from a county sales tax.

Marbletown GOP Elects

Officers were elected at the Marbletown Republican Club meeting last week in the American Legion Hall, Stone Ridge. Ray Vaughan was named president. Others elected were Ronald Roosa, vice president; Edith Van Aken, secretary; Ed Schumater, treasurer and Dorothy Sickler, corresponding secretary.

The club will hold its installation dinner at the SRS Home, Cottickill, March 30. Guest speaker will be S. Robert Kelder. Ulster County GOP chairman, John B. Sterley will be installation officer.

Tickets may be obtained from Edith Van Aken, Virginia Meyer or any member.

Torino...for people who know there's more to a performance car than painted stripes.

1968 Torino GT Fastback (Top)
1968 Torino GT Hardtop (Bottom)

Anyone can paint stripes on a car. Ford's performance champs earn their stripes the hard way. Torino swept the first five places in the Riverside 500. It's the Pace Car for the Indy 500. It's the hottest-selling new car in the country! Fairlane took first place in its class for braking and for economy in the Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials—in fact, Ford Motor Company cars won more classes than all other manufacturers combined! If it's performance you want, ride with a winner! See the man with Better Ideas . . . your Ford Dealer.

FACTS ABOUT THE 1968 TORINO

When Torino takes the first five spots in the Riverside 500, first time out, you know it's tough! These cars, of course, were driven by professionals and were modified to meet the special demands of competition. But, the same kind of basic durability and maneuverability are built into every Torino we make. So if you want stripes, get 'em on the car that gives them meaning! Choose from three GT models—fastback, hardtop and convertible. All with a 289-cu. in. V-8, wall-to-wall carpeting, all-vinyl interiors, styled steel wheels and wide-ovals. Or choose the regular hardtop or 4-door sedan. Like the GT's, they've got a new, longer, 116 in. wheelbase for smoother riding comfort, more room and more trunk space. You can even have a Torino Squire wagon, with 2-way Magic Doorgate. See America's hottest newcomer at your Ford Dealer's soon!

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted lower in fairly active trading early Tuesday.

Losses exceeded gains by 40 or so issues at the start.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 2.43 at 858.76.

Continued nervousness over the military situation in Vietnam combined with concern over the USS Pueblo were the over-riding factors in the market, analysts said. Fairly good economic news was in the background but counted little.

Airlines with big interests in foreign travel were soft following the proposals for tax on Americans traveling outside the Western Hemisphere.

KLM, TWA and Northwest Airlines dropped fractions.

Domestic carriers improved slightly. United Air Lines rose about a point. American and Eastern small fractions.

American Export Industries advanced a couple of points. Control Data and homestake gained a point or so.

Opening blocks included: Benguet, unchanged at 10 1/2 on 12,000 shares; American Telephone, off 1/4 at 51 on 9,000; Standard Oil (New Jersey), off 1/4 at 69 1/2 on 5,300; and Chrysler, off 1/4 at 50 on 5,000.

Heart Man's Discharge Is Delayed

CAPE TOWN, South Africa

(AP) — The hospital discharge of the only surviving heart transplant patient is being put off "for at least some weeks, maybe a month," his wife reported Monday.

Doctors at Groote Schuur Hospital had hoped Philip Blaiberg, 58, could go home in mid-February. But on Monday a hospital spokesman announced that fluid had formed again around the patient's transplanted heart.

"This is not giving undue cause for alarm," the spokesman said. "His condition at the moment is satisfactory."

Doctors were draining off the fluid with needles inserted into the sac surrounding the heart. Fluid was first reported to have developed nine days after the retired Cape Town dentist was given the heart of a South African mulatto Jan. 2.

100th Accident Recorded Here

Kingston recorded its 100th accident of 1968 when two cars collided at the corner of John and Crown Streets yesterday afternoon at 2:45.

Drivers were Martha Rymkevitch, 56, of RD 2, Box 222, Kingston, and Gerrard Minassian, 41, of 57 West Linden Avenue, Dumont, N. J.

City police said the Rymkevitch car was going east on Crown Street when it hit the Minassian car which was going north through the intersection on John Street.

Minassian suffered injuries to the head, arms and back while Panigoitis Papadopoulos, a passenger in the Rymkevitch car, suffered injuries to the knee and forehead. Police reported that neither was hospitalized.

UFO-Like Object Noted

What appeared to be an unidentified flying object (UFO) was reported sighted over Kingston's eastern section Monday night.

The object was seen traveling in a straight southerly direction for some distance until it was observed turning to the east. It appeared as a bright light with a slight shade of green and it had a steady glow—not flashing like lights on aircraft do as they travel.

It was first seen high in the sky over the easterly part of Kingston, or possibly over the Hudson River at 6:27 p. m., and the observer watched it for minutes until it disappeared over the horizon somewhere in Dutchess County.

The weather was clear and the skies were spotted with stars.

Seek Missing Poodle

Pierre the poodle is missing. Pierre belongs to Mrs. Kenneth Lowe Jr. of 85 Shufeldt Street and has been lost since yesterday afternoon. Anyone spotting the 2-year-old brown poodle is asked to contact either Mrs. Lowe or the Kingston Police Department.

Demos Hail Johnson's Message on Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats heading education panels in the Senate and House have hailed President Johnson's education message but a key House Republican says he doesn't think Johnson gave the problem top priority.

The Monday message proposed more financial aid for college students but sharp cutbacks in other educational programs.

Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., of the House Education and Labor Committee called the message "most promising." He said he would support its proposals for hiking aid to Head Start and Follow Through programs for pre-school children.

But Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., second-ranking Republican on the committee, said the message contained nothing new.

"I don't think he set education as his first priority," Quie said.

Hearings on the President's educational proposals are expected to open within 10 days in the House and around March 1 in the Senate.

Saugerties Music Theme Of WSCS Meet

Mrs. George Savutz will conduct the business meeting after which a program entitled Music and the Modern Man will be presented. Hostesses will be Mrs. Roy Heismoor, Mrs. David Jones, and Mrs. Audrey Van Kleck.

During the January meeting Mrs. Robert Emery gave a talk on Japan and presented the movie Younger Brother. Members participated in the Japanese art of paper folding. Hostesses were Mrs. John Bakes, Mrs. Louis Fellows, Mrs. John Thompson.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted lower in fairly active trading early Tuesday.

Losses exceeded gains by 40 or so issues at the start.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 2.43 at 858.70.

Continued nervousness over the military situation in Vietnam combined with concern over the USS Pueblo were the over-riding factors in the market, analysts said. Fairly good economic news was in the background but counted little.

Airlines with big interests in foreign travel were soft following the proposals for tax on Americans traveling outside the Western Hemisphere.

KLM, TWA and Northwest Airlines dropped fractions.

Domestic carriers improved slightly. United Air Lines rose about a point. American and Eastern small fractions.

American Export Industries advanced a couple of points. Control Data and homestake gained a point or so.

Opening blocks included: Benguet, unchanged at 10 1/2 on 12,000 shares; American Telephone, off 1/4 at 51 on 9,000; Standard Oil (New Jersey), off 1/4 at 69 1/2 on 5,300; and Chrysler, off 1/4 at 50 on 5,000.

Heart Man's Discharge Is Delayed

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The hospital discharge of the only surviving heart transplant patient is being put off "for at least some weeks, maybe a month," his wife reported Monday.

Doctors at Groote Schuur Hospital had hoped Philip Blaiberg, 58, could go home in mid-February. But on Monday a hospital spokesman announced that fluid has formed again around the patient's transplanted heart.

"This is not giving undue cause for alarm," the spokesman said. "His condition at the moment is satisfactory."

Doctors were draining off the fluid with needles inserted into the sac surrounding the heart. Fluid was first reported to have developed nine days after the retired Cape Town dentist was given the heart of a South African mulatto Jan. 2.

100th Accident
Recorded Here

Kingston recorded its 100th accident of 1968 when two cars collided at the corner of John and Crown Streets yesterday afternoon at 2:45.

Drivers were Martha Rymkevitch, 56, of RD 2, Box 222, Kingston, and Gerrard Minasian, 41, of 57 West Linden Avenue, Dumont, N. J.

City police said the Rymkevitch car was going east on Crown Street when it hit the Minasian car which was going north through the intersection on John Street.

Minasian suffered injuries to the head, arms and back while Panagiotis Papadopoulos, a passenger in the Rymkevitch car, suffered injuries to the knee and forehead. Police reported that neither was hospitalized.

UFO-Like Object Noted

What appeared to be an unidentified flying object (UFO) was reported sighted over Kingston's eastern section Monday night.

The object was seen traveling in a straight southerly direction for some distance until it was observed turning to the east. It appeared as a bright light with a slight shade of green and it had a steady glow—no flashing like lights on aircraft do as they travel.

It was first seen high in the sky over the easterly part of Kingston, or possibly over the Hudson River at 6:27 p. m., and the observer watched it for minutes until it disappeared over the horizon somewhere in Dutchess County.

The weather was clear and the skies were spotted with stars.

Seek Missing Poodle

Pierre the poodle is missing. Pierre belongs to Mrs. Kenneth Lowe Jr. of 85 Shufeldt Street and has been lost since yesterday afternoon. Anyone spotting the 2-year-old brown poodle is asked to contact either Mrs. Lowe or the Kingston Police Department.

Demos Hail Johnson's Message on Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats heading education panels in the Senate and House have hailed President Johnson's education message but a key House Republican says he doesn't think Johnson gave the problem top priority.

The Monday message proposed more financial aid for college students but sharp cutbacks in other educational programs.

Hearings on the President's educational proposals are expected to open within 10 days in the House and around March 1 in the Senate.

Record Woods Fire

As yet no one has reported seeing the first robin of the season in the area, but East Kingston firemen probably have the first woods fire recorded in the company log.

They were called out last night and after checking back in service notified a dispatcher at the Fire Control Center they had extinguished fire in a wooded area in the district.

Woman Killed

Her husband, Raymond, 56, was reported in serious condition at Ellis Hospital.

Firemen said the fire started apparently in a hallway near the bedroom.

Real Estate Good But Often Needs Attention

Q—I am 44, married and have three children with 10 years of college still ahead for them. I am enclosing a copy of my current assets. My net income averages $25,000 annually. I must provide for my own retirement. What is the best way to build an estate and offset inflation — invest in common stocks, real estate or what?—H.P.

A—I have gone over your situation carefully and commend you for your sound financial position. The common stocks you own, Avco and Raytheon, are satisfactory, and I would continue to hold them. Fidelity Trend and Television—price has been exhausted. Most Electronics, your two mutual funds, can both be retained. You have substantial cash assets, and I believe part of them at least should be utilized to build up a list of growth stocks.

Real estate is an excellent enhancer of capital, but requires more attention in most instances than do common stocks—and perhaps more than a man in your position can afford. I advise you to invest $25,000 in equal dollar amounts of Talon; Consolidated Foods; Walgreen; Chicago Title &

Trust—helped greatly by its acquisition of Halsey, Stuart & Co.—and Broadway-Hale Stores, the largest department store operator in the West.

Q—I read in your column about refund annuities. This idea is new to me, and I would appreciate more information and names of companies that offer them. My case is similar to the one you mentioned.—C.P.

A—A refund annuity guarantees you a specified income for life. In addition, it provides that if the payments made up to the time of your death are less than you paid in, the company will continue to pay amounts to your beneficiary until your original purchase price has been exhausted. Most of the major national insurance companies offer this contract, and if you have a good local company you might inquire if they have such a plan available. (Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Queen Mary Has Pickets

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The demonstrators picketing the Queen Mary claim the once proud monarch of the Atlantic is still a ship—or a barge.

It's not a building, or just a "thing," they contend.

The 100 pickets who demonstrated Monday are members of the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department. In the group were sailors, mates, pilots, stewards and other seagoing union members.

Even though the Queen Mary was bought for $3.4 million by the city of Long Beach to become a convention center, museum hotel and cafe complex, the pickets argue she is still a ship—or a barge. Barges do not move under their own power but like ships they are worked by seafaring men, the unions say.

Long Beach on the contrary, has classified the ship as a building and staffed it with civil service workers. After the museum and the restaurants open, the workers will be members of landlubber unions, the maritime department says.

A team of 16 scale removers, the only union men now employed in the conversion of the former Cunard liner, walked off their jobs as the pickets began marching at the pier where the Queen is located.

The Doctor's Mailbag

REPLACEABLE WITH PLASTIC

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—Can surgery be performed on the valves of the heart or on a hole in the partition between the left and right side of the heart?

A—Yes. Badly diseased heart valves can be replaced with plastic valves and septal defects can be repaired. Both operations depend on the use of the artificial heart-lung machine which keeps the blood circulating while bypassing the heart itself.

Q—Can an artificial pacemaker be implanted in a person who is over 60?

A—Yes, age alone is no barrier to this operation.

Q—I have been having a lot of gas and discomfort. Two electrocardiograms and other tests didn't show anything wrong with my heart. Now my doctor wants me to have a cardiac catheterization. What would you advise?

A—Your doctor's reason for wanting to introduce a catheter into your heart are not apparent from your letter. There are many ways of relieving gas pains without such a drastic procedure. A gastroenterologist should be able to help you.

Q—I am a woman, 24, and my resting pulse rate, taken on two occasions, was 112. Other tests indicate that I have a sluggish thyroid, usually associated with a slow pulse. How do you explain this? Is a pulse of 112 dangerous? Should I avoid taking thyroid extract for fear it would further accelerate my heart rate?

A—Although 72 beats per minute has long been considered normal, recent studies in which the pulse has been electronically recorded on persons engaged in their normal activities revealed that pulse rates up to 130 were fully compatible with health.

Even a woman with a low output of thyroid secretion can have a pulse rate over 100 when she is mentally absorbed in her task or when she is slightly apprehensive (as when her pulse is being taken). As long as your pulse rate is under 130 you need not worry about it. If you need thyroid, go ahead and take it.

Q—I have a pulse rate of about 60. What should I do?

A—There is a wide variation in the normal pulse rate. A rate of 30 is compatible with health provided there is no electrocardiographic evidence of heart block.

Finalists in Valentine Contest Await Final Decision

EILEEN FISHER

CHRISTINA SWANSON

MARY ANN MARINTSCH

The six finalists in our 1968 Page One Valentine Contest are all agreed on mod fashions—they like them! They don't object to long hair styles for boys—"as long as they are neat," and they agree that folk rock music is great.

The six lovely ladies talked freely while waiting for Freeman photographer Bob Haines to photograph them on Saturday.

Eileen Fisher, a junior at Kingston High School, hopes to be a French teacher. She is an active member of Student Council and is planning to attend Albany State University or Syracuse University. Miss Fisher told The Freeman she has two brothers.

Christina Swanson, a senior at Kingston High, wants to attend the Career School in Newburgh after graduation. She and her two sisters outvote their only brother in the family. Miss Swanson lists sewing and ice skating as pet hobbies.

Mary Ann Marintsch came to the United States from Germany at the age of two. She has a younger brother and next to cooking she enjoys water skiing.

Nancy Beckert is the only college student in the six finalists. A freshman at UCCS, she is planning to major in business education. Miss Beckert was captain of the KHS twirling team and there is a younger sister at home.

Dorothy Metcalf keeps herself busy with the National French Honor Society, Art Club and Athletic Association at Kingston High where she is a senior. She is considering commercial art as her major and will be studying either in Buffalo or Syracuse. Miss Metcalf has a married brother.

Valerie Adin of Kingston is now studying at Boston University.

How to Vote

The public will decide the winner. The only official ballot will be that published in The Freeman every day. Balloting will close at 2 p.m. on February 12. Just clip the ballot, indicate your vote, and mail to The Freeman.

Violinist Performs

Frances Gould, violinist, of New Salem performed in several concerts recently with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic in Poughkeepsie and Kingston under the direction of Claude Montoux. Mrs. Gould also performed with a chamber orchestra and chorale in a presentation of Magnificat by Johann Pachelbel at State University College, New Paltz, under the direction of Lee Pritchard.

Woodstock Cookbook

It has been brought to the attention of The Freeman that the total sales of the cookbook compiled in Woodstock for the benefit of the March of Dimes is not 12,000 but 1,200.

This information was provided by the Woodstock March of Dimes chairman, Jean Gaede.

Filter Papers

Filter papers are now available for percolators—the top-of-the-range or the electric kind. The filters help keep coffee clear.

Marlene and her blouse had an extraordinary effect on passersby the shop; in fact, the police got so worried they kept asking the passersby to move on. (UPI Cablephoto)

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Most homemakers use a small sugar bowl that requires frequent fillings. And no matter how carefully we pour, some gets spilled.

I filled a two-quart plastic juice container—the kind with the sliding center lid—with almost five pounds of sugar. Now it's a simple task to fill my bowls and no spoon, cup or scoop needed to transfer it.

Mrs. L. Gordon
Dear Heloise:
In taking a tub bath, I find that resting my head on a dry sponge is a great comfort. I had used a plastic, blown-up cushion, but it did not stay in place half as well as this sponge does. Great for bubble bath soaks.

Mrs. Mamie Levy
Dear Heloise:
To help keep our bedroom's tidy, we put oversize towel racks on the back of each bedroom door. We fold the bedspreads over them when not in use and they stay neat, clean and out of sight.

They're also good to hang slacks over. Kay J.
Dear Heloise:
To thoroughly clean an electric broom, remove the little basket that catches the dirt and take the broom outside. Then turn the electricity on, tap the bag lightly with your hand and watch the hidden dust and dirt fly.

Sarah J. Chaples
Dear Heloise:
Here is a hint for the children:
To make a strong sled rope that will not be hard to lie or sit on, braid some old nylon stockings together.
We have been using the same one for years. Easy on little hands too.

Armatta
Dear Heloise:
Try using a piece of pumice stone for removing those annoying marks left by dripping faucets.
It does a wonderful job without scratching the porcelain. So easy too.

Edna M. Bain
Dear Heloise:
Try wrapping your clay flower pots in gold foil paper (left from Christmas). They will look like brass from a distance and the foil will slow down evaporation.

sponge is a great comfort. I had used a plastic, blown-up cushion, but it did not stay in place half as well as this sponge does. Great for bubble bath soaks.

Mrs. Mamie Levy
Dear Heloise: To help keep our bedroom tidy, we put oversize towel racks on the back of each bedroom door. We told the bedspreads over them when not in use and they stay neat, clean and out of sight.

They're also good to hang slacks over. Kay J.
Dear Heloise: To thoroughly clean an electric broom, remove the dirt basket that catches the dirt and take the broom outside. Then turn the electricity on, tap the bag lightly with your hand and watch the hidden dust and dirt fly.

Sarah J. Chaples
Dear Heloise: Here is a hint for the children: To make a strong sled rope that will not be hard to lie or sit on, braid some old nylon stockings together.

We have been using the same one for years. Easy on little hands too. Armetta
Dear Heloise: Try using a piece of pumice stone for removing those annoying marks left by dripping faucets.

It does a wonderful job without scratching the porcelain. So easy too. Edna M. Bain

Rec Center Proposal Goes to Council

A proposal to forward a letter to the Common Council urging the naming of the proposed Rondout Recreation Center after the late Albert Brown was unanimously approved at last night's meeting of the Rondout Community Action Committee. The committee met at its offices on 58 Broadway under the chairmanship of former Supervisor Irving Bell, who presided in the absence of the Rev. James Priest, pastor of the Progressive Baptist Church. The letter will be written today and handed to Alderman Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward). Bell is the chairman of the Albert Brown Memorial Committee. The co-chairman, Joseph Lawson, will attend tonight's Council meeting. City Housing Code Inspector Joseph Saccaman represented the acting mayor T. Robert Gallo, who was attending the YMCA dinner at the Gov. Clinton. Saccaman outlined city plans for code enforcement procedures downtown. Mrs. Lorraine Longendyke, a part time housing codes inspector, also spoke, describing some of the rehabilitation programs.

MERGER OFFICERS—Merger officers of the Spring Valley and Union Center Civic Groups include (L) Mrs. Marilyn Coffey, recording secretary; Mrs. Adelaide Lynch, treasurer; Joseph Sills Jr., president; Mrs. Ethel Thoden, outgoing president and Mrs. Grace Schoonmaker, vice-president. Mrs. Jolaine Beadle is the corresponding secretary.

Town of Esopus Groups Unite Civic Activities

Two Town of Esopus Civic Groups have merged to work more effectively for community betterment.

The Spring Valley and Union Center groups, both of Ulster Park, completed the reorganization and elected officers at a recent meeting in the Union Center School Building.

Heading the new group which will take on the Union Center Civic Group designation is Joseph E. Sills Jr., a charter member of the Spring Valley organization who proposed the merger last August.

Other officers are Mrs.

Grace Schoonmaker, vice president; Mrs. Marilyn Coffey, recording secretary; Mrs. Jolaine Beadle, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Adelaide Lynch, treasurer.

Service to Area

Both organizations have a record of service to the community over a number of years. The Union Center citizens organized originally for the betterment of the local school. Members provided extras such as hot lunches, library books, playground equipment and entertainment from 1951 until the school was transferred to the Kingston City Consolidated system in 1958.

When the school was turned over to the town, the civic group assisted with the maintenance of the building as a meeting place.

The building was deeded to the St. Remy Fire Company and the vols assumed the lighting expenses while continuing to allow the civic group to meet on the premises.

Civic Projects

Recent activities of the Union Center Group include sponsorship of two Girl Scout Troops; Hilda Hopkins CP memorial project; parties, summer program of movies in connection with the Mid-Hudson Catskill Museum, and chartered trips.

School transportation, junkyards and various repairs to the schoolhouse have been other concerns of the organizations.

As a result of the annual Union Center Day a number of other civic projects have been made possible and donations have been made to a number of deserving programs.

The meeting night has been changed to the fourth Wednesday of each month at the school house location.

"OUR ELECTRIC HEAT COSTS LESS THAN OUR HEATING ESTIMATE,"

says Mrs. William Beehler* of Poughkeepsie

"and it's the most comfortable heating we've ever had — even during this bitterly cold period.

"With a big house and a big family electric heat is a big help. Things stay so clean, and I don't have that oily film to scrub away periodically.

"Two of our boys had asthma problems but since we've been in our electrically heated home, their asthma has disappeared, I suppose because the air is cleaner and not 'baked out.'

"My husband owns the Poughkeepsie Roofing Company, so he knows a quality housing product; and he's completely sold on electric heat. In fact, he claims, based on the experience of our old house, that our electric heat is no more expensive than our old fuel was.

"The amazing thing is that all of our service for heating, cooking, water heating, clothes washing and drying, and dishwashing for a family of six; freezer, 3 TV sets and I don't know what all else, costs less than the $55 a month budget we were quoted!"

Rec Center Proposal Goes to Council

A proposal to forward a letter to the Common Council urging the naming of the proposed Rondout Recreation Center after the late Albert Brown was unanimously approved at last night's meeting of the Rondout Community Action Committee. The committee met at its offices on 58 Broadway under the chairmanship of former Supervisor Irving Bell, who presided in the absence of the Rev. James Priest, pastor of the Progressive Baptist Church. The letter will be written today and handed to Alderman Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward). Bell is the chairman of the Albert Brown Memorial Committee. The co-chairman, Joseph Law-son, will attend tonight's Council meeting. City Housing Code Inspector Joseph Saccaman represented downtown. Mrs. Lorraine Long-edyke, a part time housing codes inspector, also spoke, describing some of the rehabilitation programs.

MERGER OFFICERS—Merger officers of the Spring Valley and Union Center Civic Groups include (L) Mrs. Marilyn Coffey, recording secretary; Mrs. Adelaide Lynch, treasurer; Joseph Sills Jr., president; Mrs. Ethel Thoden, outgoing president and Mrs. Grace Schoonmaker, vice-president. Mrs. JoLaine Beadle is the corresponding secretary.

Town of Esopus Groups Unite Civic Activities

Two Town of Esopus Civic Groups have merged to work more effectively for community betterment.

The Spring Valley and Union Center groups, both of Ulster Park, completed the reorganization and elected officers at a recent meeting in the Union Center School Building.

Heading the new group which will take on the Union Center Civic Group designation is Joseph E. Sills Jr., a charter member of the Spring Valley organization who proposed the merger last August.

Other officers are Mrs. Grace Schoonmaker, vice president; Mrs. Marilyn Coffey, recording secretary; Mrs. JoLaine Beadle, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Adelaide Lynch, treasurer.

Both organizations have a record of service to the community over a number of years. The Union Center citizens organized originally for the betterment of the local school. Members provided extras such as hot lunches, library books, playground equipment and entertainment from 1951 until the school was transferred to the Kingston City Consolidated system in 1958.

When the school was turned over to the town, the civic group assisted with the maintenance of the building as a meeting place.

The building was deeded to the St. Remy Fire Company and the vols assumed the lighting expenses while continuing to allow the civic group to meet on the premises.

Civic Projects

Recent activities of the Union Center Group include sponsorship of two Girl Scout Troops; Hilda Hopkins CP memorial project; parties, summer program of movies in connection with the Mid-Hudson Catskill Museum, and chartered trips.

School transportation, junkyards and various repairs to the schoolhouse have been other concerns of the organizations.

As a result of the annual Union Center Day a number of other civic projects have been made possible and donations have been made to a number of deserving programs.

The meeting night has been changed to the fourth Wednesday of each month at the school house location.

Orange CCC Tests Ulster Senators Here Wednesday

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

The post-Pittsburgh phase of the 1967-68 basketball season starts Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium for the 18-2 Ulster County Community College Senators.

Orange County Community Colts and their high scoring Mike Cusato come to town for what should be one of the better Mid-Hudson Conference contests of the season.

UCCC is 3-2 in the Mid-Hudson and 6-4 overall. Cusato, the 6-foot-3, 230-pound pivotman is averaging 23.8 with 119 points in five conference games. The former Pine Bush Central star, strangely is hitting much better in the MHC than in independent competition where his average is 10 points less than his lofty conference clip.

Played Service Ball
Cusato played four years of ball in the service, then enrolled at OCCC last fall. He is the Colts' leading rebounder and the team has not fared well without him in the lineup—witness the Colts' loss to Sullivan when he rode the bench with fouls.

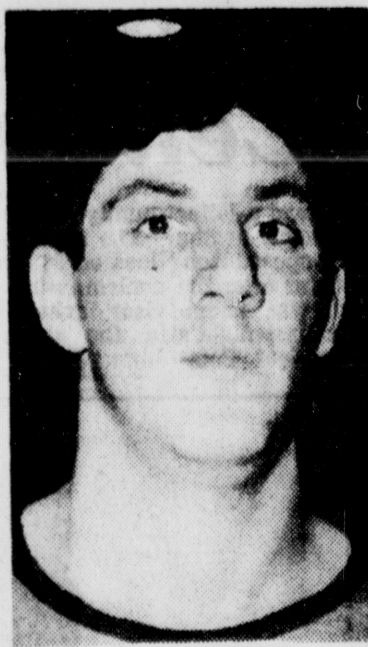

Bob Lake, the OCCC coach, has a few other topnotch players to go with Cusato, but none has the height or scoring punch the husky center carries.

In the backcourt, Lake has Charlie Chambers, a fiery guard who likes to be the floor general at all times. Chambers, a 6-footer, can match outside shots with most conference guards and helps out by crashing the boards, using his tremendous jumping ability to the fullest.

Up front with Cusato, the Colts have Tim Burns, a fine clutch shooter and one who is not afraid to mix it up underneath. Burns, though is notoriously lacking in defensive skills.

Backcourt Problems
The other forward is Larry Hait, another husky scrapper who is back after missing more than a month with the flu. Finding a backcourt man to team with Chambers has been a thorn in the Colts' side all year. Coach Lake has tried several players but none has stood out.

He has tried Bill Dockstader and the Moore twins—Lindsay and Lorenzo. All three were stickouts on the 1966-67 Newburgh Academy varsity but have not been able to make it as a consistent starter in collegiate ball.

Chambers has been the team's most consistent scorer but Cusato seems to eat up Mid-Hudson opponents. There might be a turnabout though, since Cusato racked up 38 and 42 in two of the last three Colt contests, all non-conference.

If the reverse trend holds up, Ulster can look for Cusato to have an off night, severely hampering whatever chance the Colts have of upsetting Ulster.

Only six games remain on the UCCC slate after Wednesday's clash with OCCC. Long Island comes in Friday night. After that there are three straight road games—at Dutchess, Westchester and Sullivan. The last home contest is Feb. 22 against Rockland, with the season's finale at Fulton-Montgomery.

Coach Mike Perry is confident the Senators have regained their momentum with the romp over Allegheny College after the debacle against Robert Morris at Pittsburgh.

Top Rated Team

UCCC was top ranked on offense with 118.2 average based on Feb. 1 ratings of the National Junior College Athletic Association service bureau at Dodge City, Kansas. Uhl was seventh in scoring with a 32.6 game average.

San Jacinto Junior College of Pasadena, Texas, was the No. 1 rated squad in the country and Ron Riordan of Becker College in Worcester Mass. led the scorers with a 45.9 average in 19 games.

KHS Swimmers Nip Middies to Tie for DUSO Lead

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

"To dream the impossible dream" was Coach Ron Gabrielle's reaction to Kingston High's stunning 48-47 victory over Middletown in a DUSO League swimming match Monday in the Middle pool.

A win in the final event of the day — the 400-yard freestyle relay — enabled the Maroons to overhaul the resurgent Middies and tie them for first place (3-1), in the DUSO standings.

Five new KHS records and one Middletown pool record were the ingredients in this spectacular achievement for the "homeless" Maroons.

By Decisive Margin
Middletown led 47-41 going into the last race, having picked up 17 points in three previous races, but the Maroon quartet of Pete Helmich, Bob Quells, Andy Jones and Charles Plunket splashed its way to a decisive margin to close out the hotly contested match.

The five new records:

GENE GRUNER — 200-yard freestyle (2:06.8) and 100-yard butterfly (1:04).

CRAIG MURRAY — 160-yard individual medley (1:51.2); 400-yard freestyle (4:42.2).

CHARLES PLUNKET — 100-yard freestyle (53.3).

Andy Jones came from behind to trim Jim Goldstein and Al Sweeney in the 60-yard freestyle to account for the other KHS victory.

Middletown's strategy was to overload in the events between the first and last relays. The Middies conceded the 400-yard freestyle relay to Kingston but the overload strategy fizzled in the first event it was tried — the 200-yard freestyle. Gene Gruner and Pete Helmich breezed past Middletown's fine freshman whiz, Phil Walsh, for an 8-point victory.

Middle Rally Stalled
The Maroon lost the lead in the diving event, 24-19, but regained it by the end of the 100-yard freestyle. A late 17-point rally by Middletown in three events temporarily chilled Maroon hopes. Then came the showdown in the final relay and it was Kingston all the way.

For his fine performances, Gene Gruner was elected swimmer of the week by his teammates.

Brand or No Brand on Skis

Sports and Politics as Usual Shroud Winter Olympic Opener

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle of France opens the 10th Winter Olympics today — Games shrouded with problems even before an athlete bids for a medal.

The International Ski Federation's decision to allow manufacturers' names to be used on skis has produced the biggest controversy.

Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, heard the decision and immediately called an emergency meeting or today of his 10-man executive board to discuss the problem.

Earlier in the week, the Ski Federation had said that trade marks would be barred from the Olympics and Brundage, a disciple of complete amateurism in the Olympics, said that any athlete breaking the rule would be thrown out of the Olympics.

But about an hour later, the Ski Federation, under pressure from team captains, reversed itself and said it would allow trade marks to be used.

Might Change Title

Rumors spread around Grenoble that it was possible that skiing events—instead of being Olympic events—would be called world championships.

In championships outside the Olympics, skiers are allowed to use the names of manufacturers on their skis without any problems.

Brundage refused to comment and simply said: "we have our meeting arranged and you must wait to see what the decisions are."

At another meeting—called by the Russians—Yuri Mashin, president of the Central Committee of Soviet Sports Delegates, told more than 100 newsmen preparing to cover the games: "The Soviet sportsmen are profoundly disgusted by the American aggression in Vietnam."

The Russian Reply

An American reporter asked whether it was "right and proper" to introduce political matters at a news conference concerned with sport. "Questions of peace and war are not only political questions," Mashin replied. "They are of vital importance to everyone, particularly in the world of sports."

There were several mishaps as athletes completed training for the Games.

American Skier Hurt

Robin Morning, a 20-year-old American skier from Santa Monica, Calif., suffered a broken right leg training for the women's downhill race.

Dr. Lawrence Crane, who set the leg in a cast, said a decision would be made today on a possible operation.

Rod Hebron of Canada, who had been entered in the men's downhill, suffered a bruised shoulder in another spill and was considered doubtful for the Games.

Wendy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., sustained a slight cut over an eye during slalom training and Dennis McCoy of Bishop, Calif., was nursing a sore back and torn tendon in his finger after a spill.

Food poisoning hit three members of the U.S. speed skating team—Bill Lanigan of New York, Dianne Holm of Northbrook, Ill., and Toy Joan Dorgan of Springfield, Ill. All were expected to be ready for the competition though.

Three hockey games open the Olympics today with the schedule of events increasing Wednesday.

Winter Olympic Shorts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The youngest athlete at the Olympic Games is a Rumanian ice skater, Miss Beatrice Husu. "I am not 11 but six months short of my 12th birthday," she announces.

VILLATS DE LANS, France (AP)

— The top American finishers in luge competition in the 1964 Winter Olympics at Innsbruck, says the 1,000-meter race built here for the 1968 Winter Games is excellent.

Francis "Buddy" Feltman of Sun Valley, Idaho, who placed 13th in men's singles, said today the Villard-De-Lans course is fast and forgiving to the racer who makes a mistake. Feltman, now a ski instructor at Sun Valley, is assistant coach of the U.S. team.

CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — Movie actress Audrey Hepburn rode the cable-car to the top of the Olympic downhill course Monday and stayed long enough to pose for pictures with Jean-Claude Killy, the No. 1 French skier.

A 50-m.p.h. wind blowing over the Croix-De-Chamrousse forced her back to the base station after a few minutes.

CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore., the 18-year-old newcomer to the U.S. Olympic team, has caused a stir among supposedly blasé Europeans — partly because of her surprising skiing, partly because of her unusual first name.

"All Europe is wondering about your name, Kiki," a French newspaperman told her. "Is it your real name, or what does it mean?"

"No," she said, "my real name is Christina; Kiki is just a diminutive my friends started calling me. It doesn't mean anything."

CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — Felicity "Bunny" Field of Great Britain was asked during downhill training where she usually skis back home.

"Oh," she replied, "most people think you have to go clear to Scotland to ski, but that's not true. I often go to Box Hill in Surrey."

And how much snow do they get there, she was asked. Without looking up from fastening her bindings, she said, "About two tea-cups full." And down she went on the downhill course.

KHS Swimmers Nip Middies to Tie for DUSO Lead

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

"To dream the impossible dream" was Coach Ron Gabrielle's reaction to Kingston High's stunning 48-47 victory over Middletown in a DUSO League swimming match Monday in the Middle pool.

A win in the final event of the day — the 400-yard freestyle relay — enabled the Maroons to overhaul the resurgent Middies and tie them for first place (3-1), in the DUSO standings.

Five new KHS records and one Middletown record were the ingredients in this spectacular achievement for the "homeless" Maroons.

By Decisive Margin
Middletown led 47-41 going into the last race, having picked up 17 points in three previous races, but the Maroon quartet of Pete Helmich, Bob Quells, Andy Jones and Charles Plunket splashed its way to a decisive margin to close out the hotly contested match.

The five new records:
GENE GRUNER—200-yard freestyle (2:06.8) and 100-yard butterfly (1:04).

CRAIG MURRAY—160-yard individual medley (1:51.2); 400-yard freestyle (4:42.2).

CHARLES PLUNKET—100-yard freestyle (33.3).

Andy Jones came from behind to trim Jim Goldstein and Al Sweeney in the 60-yard freestyle to account for the other KHS victory.

Middletown's strategy was to overload in the events between the first and last relays. The Middies conceded the 400-yard freestyle relay to Kingston but the overload strategy fizzled in the first event it was tried — the 200-yard freestyle. Gene Gruner and Pete Helmich breezed past Middletown's fine freshman whiz, Phil Walsh, for an 8-point victory.

Middle Rally Stalled
The Maroon lost the lead in the diving event, 24-19, but regained it by the end of the 100-yard freestyle. A late 17-point rally by Middletown in three events temporarily chilled Maroon hopes. Then came the showdown in the final relay and it was Kingston all the way.

For his fine performances, Gene Gruner was elected swimmer of the week by his teammates.

The summaries:

Brand or No Brand on Skis

Sports and Politics as Usual Shroud Winter Olympic Opener

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle of France opens the 10th Winter Olympics today — Games shrouded with problems even before an athlete bids for a medal.

The International Ski Federation's decision to allow manufacturers' names to be used on skis has produced the biggest controversy.

Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, heard the decision and immediately called an emergency meeting for today of his 30-man executive board to discuss the problem.

Earlier in the week, the Ski Federation had said that trade marks would be barred from the Olympics and Brundage, a disciple of complete amateurism in the Olympics, said that any athlete breaking the rule would be thrown out of the Olympics.

But about an hour later, the Ski Federation, under pressure from team captains, reversed itself and said it would allow trade marks to be used.

Might Change Title

Rumors spread around Grenoble that it was possible that skiing events—instead of being Olympic events—would be called world championships. In championships outside the Olympics, skiers are allowed to use the names of manufacturers on their skis without any problems.

Brundage refused to comment and simply said: "We have our meeting arranged and you must wait to see what the decisions are."

At another meeting—called by the Russians—Yuri Mashin, president of the Central Committee of Soviet Sports Delegates, told more than 100 newsmen preparing to cover the games: "The Soviet sportsmen are profoundly disgusted by the American aggression in Vietnam."

The Russian Reply

An American reporter asked whether it was "right and proper" to introduce political matters at a news conference concerned with sport. "Questions of peace and war are not only political questions," Mashin replied. "They are of vital importance to everyone, particularly in the world of sports."

There were several mishaps as athletes completed training for the Games.

American Skier Hurt

Robin Morning, a 20-year-old American skier from Santa Monica, Calif., suffered a broken right leg training for the women's downhill race.

Dr. Lawrence Crane, who set the leg in a cast, said a decision would be made today on a possible operation.

Rod Hebrun of Canada, who had been entered in the men's downhill, suffered a bruised shoulder in another spill and was considered doubtful for the Games.

Wendy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., sustained a slight cut over an eye during slalom training and Dennis McCoy of Bish-pal, Calif., was nursing a sore back and torn tendon in his finger after a spill.

Food poisoning hit three members of the U.S. speed skating team—Bill Lanigan of New York, Dianne Holm of Northbrook, Ill., and Toy Joan Dorgan of Springfield, Ill. All were expected to be ready for the competition though.

Three hockey games open the Olympics today with the schedule of events increasing Wednesday.

St. Mary's walked all over Immaculate Conception by a score of 84-35 yesterday in CYO intermediate basketball, opening up in the second half for a total of 50 points.

David Meeks bombed 21 markers and Chris Zell netted 16 to pace St. Mary's offensive punch. Bill Zeel tallied 15 for the losers.

Chamrousse, France (AP)—Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore., the 18-year-old newcomer to the U.S. Olympic team, has caused a stir among supposedly blasé Europeans — partly because of her surprising skiing, partly because of her unusual first name.

"All Europe is wondering about your name, Kiki," a French newspaperman told her. "Is it your real name, or what does it mean?"

As you read this, the superintendents of the Dutchess County Scholastic League (DCSL) may still be deliberating the applications of Kingston High and Newburgh Academy to gain admission to their conference.

Middletown's decision to renew an application filed three years wasn't welcome news at the Kate Walton field house where the Kingston athletic department brass is quartered.

It could only muddy a situation already badly confused was the thinking on the hill. But a "hot rumor" was sweeping the mid-Hudson area over the weekend—the DCSL would accept both Kingston and Newburgh but reject Middletown for 1969 competition.

Source of the rumor is unknown but a person who has a pretty good pipeline to the DCSL said he was confident the superintendents would make that decision.

IF THE REPORT is confirmed by affirmative action of the superintendents today it would come as a big surprise to Bill Burke, the Kingston athletic director.

A realist, Burke said he was aware of at least three negative votes against Kingston—from Cardinal Farley, Roosevelt and Saugerties, which passionately yearns to return to its first love—the UCAL—and would be very unhappy at the prospect of facing Kingston High in DCSL football.

Add Beacon to the trio of schools who have no desire to engage Kingston in football combat. Yet, as Burke points out, virtually all of the DCSL schools appear on the Maroon schedule in other sports.

The reticence of the DCSL schools to play Kingston in football is slightly exaggerated, we think. The recent Maroon football record and the long range prospects hardly make a monster of the once powerful Kingston team.

THE BILL BURKE football dynasty is over and is not likely to be repeated for many years. Coach Jack Gilligan picked up the threads and perpetuated the G. Warren Kias basketball legend.

There are too many factors mitigating against a long range football resurgence at Kingston High. Too many to list in this discussion but enough to warrant special consideration on some future date.

Meanwhile, we trust the DCSL accepts both Kingston and Newburgh and retire the tired, old DUSO League which no longer inspires either the athletes or the students in its various schools. The time for a change has come and we hope it's today.

ULSTER COMMUNITY has received an invitation to compete in the Blue Water Classic next year in Port Huron, Michigan, a delightful Kingston style city on the Canadian-American border.

The invitation was one of the bonuses picked up by Coach Mike Perry during the recent trip to Pittsburgh. Port Huron has one of the finest junior college teams in the nation.

Coach Perry shook off the Robert Morris nightmare and said he was pleased with the reception and treatment at Allegheny College. He plans to visit Pittsburgh again in two years to play Allegheny and one other school, probably the Duquesne freshmen or the University of Pittsburgh frosh.

Present enrollment is 1810, but it is projected that there will be more than 10,000 students in the not so faraway future. A new field house has been planned, with floor space big enough to contain four full-sized basketball courts.

LIKE MORRIS and ALLEGHENY, UCCC will grow and prosper and become a ranking national junior college power, if Mike Perry remains at the helm.

If Perry's successes continue, it will be surprising if he doesn't attract offers to move higher up the coaching ladder. The only factors that might keep him in our midst are the multiple business interests he has in addition to the UCCC coaching post. So long as he stays, UCCC figures to be a basketball power.

In DCSL Wrestling

Sawyers Shatter Wappinger Streak

An inspired Saugerties High school wrestling team ended Wappingers High's 6-year DCSL winning streak 26-21 in a tight match.

Two forfeits by the Fallsmen—in the 95-pound and heavy-weight categories—were heavy factors in their defeat.

With Wappingers leading 21-10, John Warren of Saugerties cut the bluge to six by pinning his man in the 154-pound class. Rich Praetorius narrowed it to three with a decision in the 165-pound division and Richie Bolen (180 pounds) tied the score at 21-21.

When Wappingers could not come up with a heavyweight it lost the match and its long winning streak was over.

Bolen was clearly in control in the crucial semi-final match, with the opening shake-down his. He escaped from underneath in the second period and then his opponent, Bob Simpson, was called for stalling. Bolen was awarded a point for riding time, making the final score 34-21. Undeclared Praetorius ran his winning streak to 11 straight and Warren has eight in a row.

Saugerties, now 9-2, wrestles Kingston High tonight at 7 at the Kate Walton fieldhouse.

The summary:

95 lb.—Tim Vaughn (S) won by forfeit.

103 lb.—Bill Conley (W) decision Bob Carr (S) 10-7.

112 lb.—Craig McElveen (W) decision Bob Garrison (S) 13-2.

180 lb.—Rich Bolen (S) decision Bob Simpson (W) 5-1.

Heavyweight—Paul Christiana (S) won by forfeit.

For the second straight year senior Don Martin led the University of Washington eleven in scoring. He kicked 10 of 17 field goals and made 14 of 15 extra point attempts for a total of 44 points.

The New Mexico State Aggies, the only new team among the Top Ten in the latest Associated Press college basketball poll, get a chance to move up further in the standings Wednesday night when they take on sixth-ranked New Mexico. It's the only game this week matching ranking teams.

The Aggies were beaten by New Mexico 71-64 on Jan. 6, but have been defeated only one other time while winning 17. Ohio State beat them, 78-75, on Dec. 19.

New Mexico's 17-game winning streak came to an end Saturday night when the Lobos lost to Arizona, 69-68. The result dropped them from fourth to sixth in the rankings.

The unbeaten Houston Cougars held first place in the poll, but their margin over runner-up UCLA was trimmed to eight points.

The Cougars collected 25 votes for No. 1 and 322 points. UCLA drew eight votes for the top spot and 314 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place, 9 for second etc. Houston led by 23 points last week.

Earl the Pearl Was at Home

Earl Monroe came home to Winston-Salem, N.C., and it was like he had never been away.

The rookie star of the Baltimore Bullets poured in 32 points, leading Baltimore to a 121-108 National Basketball Association victory over San Diego Monday night.

In the only other game played, Seattle nipped Cincinnati 132-129 in overtime. In the ABA, Houston edged New Jersey 109-107 and Kentucky downed Minnesota 95-86.

Earl the Pearl led the country's small college scorers playing for Winston-Salem's NCAA college division champions last year. So the home town folks knew what to expect when he came to town with the Bullets.

Monroe didn't disappoint them. He hit on 10 field goals and 12 of 14 free throws. It was the ninth time in the last 10 games that he scored more than 30 points in a game.

In Phoenix, Ariz., Walt Hazzard triggered Seattle's overtime victory over Cincinnati with a 45-point output, including nine in the extra period. Hazzard equalled a personal career high with 15 of 26 field goal tries and 15 of 16 free throws.

The Tennessee Waltz Is Big Click on Road

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Tennessee put its show on the road, came up with a big hit and now a few more encores and they can have the Southeastern Conference basketball title. But the audiences and teams might not be as easy to get by.

The Volunteers shuffled Pete Maravich off center stage Monday night and clobbered Louisiana State 87-67 in the first game of a four-game road trip through the SEC.

The victory left the fifth-ranked Vols with a 9-1 conference mark, 15-2 overall and a two-game lead over Florida, which beat Alabama 64-59 on the road.

Kentucky and Vanderbilt, two other ranked SEC hopefuls, also showed well as the Wildcats belted Mississippi 78-62 at Lexington and the Commodores tripped tough Georgia 82-77 at home.

Ohio State, 5-1 and 12-4, nipped Indiana 78-77 on the road.

and increased its Big Ten lead to one game over Illinois while Michigan outscored visiting Minnesota 112-101 in another league game.

In the Big Eight, Kansas State and Nebraska pulled into a three-way first place tie with Iowa State at 5-2 as the Wildcats trimmed Missouri 69-67 at home and the Cornhuskers dropped host Oklahoma 89-83. Kansas ran its record to 4-2 with a 52-50 edge over visiting Oklahoma State.

In other games, Memphis State downed North Texas State 67-65 and Oklahoma City swamped Centenary 117-92 in road victories.

Michael Frosh

Blast Oontora

Myron J. Michael freshmen displayed a complete repertoire as they crushed visiting Oontora Central 73-49.

Rich Bullock bombed 20 points to lead MJM offense, while Vlad Hoyt notched 15 to pace the Indians.

Working Press

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

As you read this, the superintendents of the Dutchess County Scholastic League (DCSL) may still be deliberating the applications of Kingston High and Newburgh Academy to gain admission to their conference.

Middletown's decision to renew an application filed three years wasn't welcome news at the Kate Walton field house where the Kingston athletic department brass is quartered.

It could only muddy a situation already badly confused was the thinking on the hill. But a "hot rumor" was sweeping the mid-Hudson area over the weekend—the DCSL would accept both Kingston and Newburgh but reject Middletown for 1969 competition.

Source of the rumor is unknown but a person who has a pretty good pipeline to the DCSL said he was confident the superintendents would make that decision.

IF THE REPORT is confirmed by affirmative action of the superintendents today it would come as a big surprise to Bill Burke, the Kingston athletic director.

A realist, Burke said he was aware of at least three negative votes against Kingston—from Cardinal Farley, Roosevelt and Saugerties, which passionately yearns to return to its first love—the UCL—would be very unhappy at the prospect of facing Kingston High in DCSL football.

Add Beacon to the trio of schools who have no desire to engage Kingston in football combat. Yet, as Burke points out, virtually all the DCSL schools appear on the Maroon schedule in other sports.

The reticence of the DCSL schools to play Kingston in football is slightly exaggerated, we think. The recent Maroon football record and the long range prospects hardly make a monster of the once powerful Kingston team.

THE BILL BURKE football dynasty is over and is not likely to be repeated for many years. Coach Jack Gilligan picked up the threads and perpetuated the G. Warren Kias basketball legend.

There are too many factors mitigating against a long range football resurgence at Kingston High. Too many to list in this discussion but enough to warrant special consideration on some future date.

Meanwhile, we trust the DCSL accepts both Kingston and Newburgh and retire the tired, old DUSO League which no longer inspires either the athletes or the students in its various schools. The time for a change has come and we hope it's today.

ULSTER COMMUNITY has received an invitation to compete in the Blue Water Classic next year in Port Huron, Michigan, a delightful Kingston style city on the Canadian-American border.

The invitation was one of the bonuses picked up by Coach Mike Perry during the recent trip to Pittsburgh. Port Huron has one of the finest junior college teams in the nation.

Coach Perry shook off the Robert Morris nightmare and said he was pleased with the reception and treatment at Allegheny College. He plans to visit Pittsburgh again in two years to play Allegheny and one other school, probably the Duquesne freshmen or the University of Pittsburgh freshmen.

Present enrollment is 1810, but it is projected that there will be more than 10,000 students in the not so faraway future. A new field house has been planned, with floor space big enough to contain four full-sized basketball courts.

LIKE MORRIS AND ALLEGHENY, UCC will grow and prosper and become a ranking national junior college power, if Mike Perry remains at the helm.

If Perry's successes continue, it will be surprising if he doesn't attract offers to move higher up the coaching ladder. The only factors that might keep him in our midst are the multiple business interests he has in addition to the UCC coaching post. So long as he stays, UCC figures to be a basketball power.

In DCSL Wrestling

Sawyers Shatter Wappinger Streak

An inspired Saugerties High school wrestling team ended Wappingers' High's 6-year DCSL winning streak 26-21 in a tight match.

Two forfeits by the Fallsmen—in the 95-pound and heavyweight categories—were heavy factors in their defeat.

With Wappingers leading 21-10, John Warren of Saugerties cut the bluge to six by pinning his man in the 154-pound class. Rich Praetorius narrowed it to three with a decision in the 165-pound division and Richie Bolen (180 pounds) tied the score at 21-11.

When Wappingers could not come up with a heavyweight it lost the match and its long winning streak was over.

Bolen was clearly in control in the crucial semi-final match, with the opening shakedown his. He escaped from underneath in the second period and then his opponent, Bob Simpson, was called for stalling. Bolen was awarded a point for riding time, making the final score 5-1.

Undefeated Praetorius ran his winning streak to 11 straight and Warren has eight in a row.

Saugerties, now 9-2, wrestles

Houston Holds No. 1

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New Mexico State Aggies, the only new team among the Top Ten in the latest Associated Press college basketball poll, get a chance to move up further in the standings Wednesday night when they take on sixth-ranked New Mexico. It's the only game this week matching ranking teams.

The Aggies were beaten by New Mexico 71-64 on Jan. 6, but have been defeated only one other time while winning 17. Ohio State beat them, 78-75, on Dec. 19.

New Mexico's 17-game winning streak came to an end Saturday night when the Lobos lost to Arizona, 69-68. The result dropped them from fourth to sixth in the rankings.

The unbeaten Houston Cougars held first place in the poll, but their margin over runner-up UCLA was trimmed to eight points.

The Cougars collected 25 votes for No. 1 and 322 points. UCLA drew eight votes for the top spot and 314 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place, 9 for second etc. Houston led by 23 points last week.

Earl the Pearl Was at Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earl Monroe came home to Winston-Salem, N.C., and it was like he had never been away.

The rookie star of the Baltimore Bullets poured in 32 points, leading Baltimore to a 121-108 National Basketball Association victory over San Diego Monday night.

In the only other game played, Seattle nipped Cincinnati 132-129 in overtime. In the ABA, Houston edged New Jersey 109-107 and Kentucky downed Minnesota 95-86.

Earl the Pearl led the country's small college scorers playing for Winston-Salem's NCAA college division champions last year. So the home town folks knew what to expect when he came to town with the Bullets.

Monroe didn't disappoint them. He hit on 10 field goals and 12 of 14 free throws. It was the ninth time in the last 10 games that he scored more than 30 points in a game.

In Phoenix, Ariz., Walt Hazzard triggered Seattle's overtime victory over Cincinnati with a 45-point output, including nine in the extra period. Hazzard equalled a personal career high with 15 of 26 field goal tries and 15 of 16 free throws.

Red Surrenders, Begins Jail Term

NEW YORK (AP) — William Epton, self-styled Communist, surrendered Monday in State Supreme Court to start serving a one-year jail term for conspiracy to overthrow the state government during the Harlem riots of 1964.

However, Epton's attorneys asked Justice Charles Marks to delay commitment to Riker's Island Penitentiary so they could take Epton's case before a federal court.

Justice Marks granted a one-day stay and ordered Epton confined in the City House of Detention.

During the trial Epton, 35, was found to have stood on a street corner in Harlem July 18, 1964, and stated: "If we're going to be free, we will not be fully free until we smash this state completely and totally, destroy, and set up a state of our own choosing and our own liking."

Epton, chairman of the Harlem branch of the Progressive Labor Movement, commented after sentencing, "Well, I guess there had to be a scapegoat for the police riots of 1964 and I'm it."

DEAR ABBY: What does a wife do when she's lost practically all communication with her husband? Our children have left the nest and live out of state.

My husband has done very well financially, and I must admit he has been extremely good to me and the children—but our lives seem so empty now.

He comes home from the office at 5:30, has one scotch and soda, then he eats his dinner. After that he buries his nose in the Wall Street Journal, Barrons, or some other dull publication. Then if he doesn't watch television, he reads some more.

We rarely talk. He tells me he spends his time talking to people all day (he's a stock broker) and when he gets home he's all talked out. We're not

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this very eligible gentleman for about six months. My problem is that I am not making very good progress.

For instance, he has never said, "I love you." He says, "I am very fond of you."

We're not kids, Abby. I am a widow, 51, and he's a widower 55.

I have a girl friend who is 53 and never been married and she says the way to get a man to tell you he LOVES you is to tell him first. Should I?

Another thing, I have a rule that unless a man has told me he loves me, I never let him hold a kiss more than five seconds. Do you think that's a good idea? I am not about to play games and spoil everything.

HOLDING OUT: Don't tell a man you "love" him in order to trick him into telling you he loves you. (If it's not sincere, who needs it? Yes, five seconds is long enough to hold a kiss with a man who is only "fond" of you. (P.S. with reference to your unmarried girl friend, I wouldn't accept coaching from someone who has never made the team.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MISERABLE" IN MIAMI: If you forgive him you will have solved only part of your problem. First you must truly forgive yourself.

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'I Spy' Just A Big Yawn Now

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (A) — There is something curious about the way last season's television hit suddenly turns into this season's great big yawn.

Style Turns Phony
The distinctive style that made the show seem so fresh and novel suddenly seems as phony as a three dollar toupee after constant exposure for perhaps a year, maybe longer.

Some wear and tear is inevitable. It is impossible for the fans who tune in weekly about 30 times a year to ignore the devices used, or to fail to see plot bones as clearly as if shown in an X-ray.

Perhaps NBC's "I Spy" which started out three seasons back with a crisp, funny and new approach to the secret agent business, has been trapped by its own jauntiness.

In Monday night's episode, Robert Culp and Bill Cosby were their usual fun-loving selves even though hunting a killer, constantly ducking bullets and under arrest for murder. Somehow, the old charm is lacking. After getting accustomed to their frolicsome dialogue over the seasons, it has suddenly become less amusing and more artificial. Maybe the actors are getting a bit weary of their roles, too.

What started two seasons ago as a campy put-on called "Batman," today has become a self-consciously cute bore. The pretentious use of the cliché, once so droll, begins to be an irritant once a point of surfeit is reached. The result is that "Batman" has dropped in the ratings and its producer announced recently that it will be among the missing on ABC next season.

"Dragnet" is still another program more notable for its distinctive style than for the content of its stories. And, after a time, that style can make the viewer downright restless.

"Felon Squad" another Monday night series, is now in its second season, and does not have much of a style of its own. But star Howard Duff's portrait of a police officer is almost its signature. He plays the cop as a man with a trigger temper constantly on the verge of going off. In the most recent episode, he was busy tracking down a man holding a girl for ransom. He seemed more angry at the girl's father than he was at the heavy, and thus the story seemed a bit out of balance.

'Saint' Returning
NBC will start broadcasting the British-made "Saint" series on Saturday, Feb. 17 instead of a week later, as originally planned. The action series, starring Roger Moore, will replace "Maya."

ABC plans an April 9 special on "The Comedy of Ernie Kovacs." Edie Adams, Kovacs' widow, will be one of the producers of the program which will consist of taped and filmed sketches. Kovacs died in 1962 after an automobile accident.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius
Trade Mark Reg.

Quakers are noted for being peace-loving people but even their patience can be sorely tried. Once when a man severely reviled him, a Quaker said, "Have a care friend, or thou mayest run thy face against my fist."

Passenger — Of course I got home all right last night. Why? Conductor — Well, when you got up to give that lady your seat you were the only two people on the bus.

It's costing us more to make history than the stuff is worth.

Mother (to her wailing young son) — Mommy's sorry she ran over your tricycle, dear, but what on earth was it doing in the garden?

A little boy was being told by his mother about the Golden Rule.

Mrs. Brown — Just remember, that we are here to help others.

The boy thought it over and then asked,

Bobby — Well, then, what are the others here for?

'I Spy' Just A Big Yawn Now

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (A) — There is something curious about the way last season's television hit suddenly turns into this season's great big yawn.

Style Turns Phony
The distinctive style that made the show seem so fresh and novel suddenly seems as phony as a three dollar toupee after constant exposure for perhaps a year, maybe longer.

Some wear and tear is inevitable. It is impossible for the fans who tune in weekly about 30 times a year to ignore the devices used, or to fail to see plot bones as clearly as if shown in an X-ray.

Perhaps NBC's "I Spy" which started out three seasons back with a crisp, funny and new approach to the secret agent business, has been trapped by its own jauntness.

In Monday night's episode, Robert Culp and Bill Cosby were their usual fun-loving selves even though hunting a killer, constantly ducking bullets and under arrest for murder. Somehow, the old charm is lacking. After getting accustomed to their frolicsome dialogue over the seasons, it has suddenly become less amusing and more artificial. Maybe the actors are getting a bit weary of their roles, too.

What started two seasons ago as a campy put-on called "Batman," today has become a self-consciously cute bore. The pre-tentious use of the cliché, once so droll, begins to be an irritant once a point of surfeit is reached. The result is that "Batman" has dropped in the ratings and its producer announced recently that it will be among the missing on ABC next season.

"Dragnet" is still another program more notable for its distinctive style than for the content of its stories. And, after a time, that style can make the viewer downright restless.

"Felony Squad" another Monday night series, is now in its second season, and does not have much of a style of its own. But star Howard Duff's portrait of a police officer is almost its signature. He plays the cop as a man with a trigger temper constantly on the verge of going off. In the most recent episode, he was busy tracking down a man holding a girl for ransom. He seemed more angry at the girl's father than he was at the heavy, and thus the story seemed a bit out of balance.

'Saint' Returning
NBC will start broadcasting the British-made "Saint" series on Saturday, Feb. 17 instead of a week later, as originally planned. The action series, starring Roger Moore, will replace "Maya."

ABC plans an April 9 special on "The Comedy of Ernie Kovacs." Edie Adams, Kovacs' widow, will be one of the producers of the program which will consist of taped and filmed sketches. Kovacs died in 1962 after an automobile accident.

OFFICE CAT

Quakers are noted for being peace-loving people but even their patience can be sorely tried. Once when a man severely reviled him, a Quaker said, "Have a care friend, or thou mayest run thy face against my fist."

Passenger — Of course I got home all right last night. Why? Conductor — Well, when you got up to give that lady your seat you were the only two people on the bus.

It's costing us more to make history than the stuff is worth.

Mother (to her wailing young son) — Mommy's sorry she ran over your tricycle, dear, but what on earth was it doing in the garden?

A little boy was being told by his mother about the Golden Rule.

Mrs. Brown — Just remember, that we are here to help others.

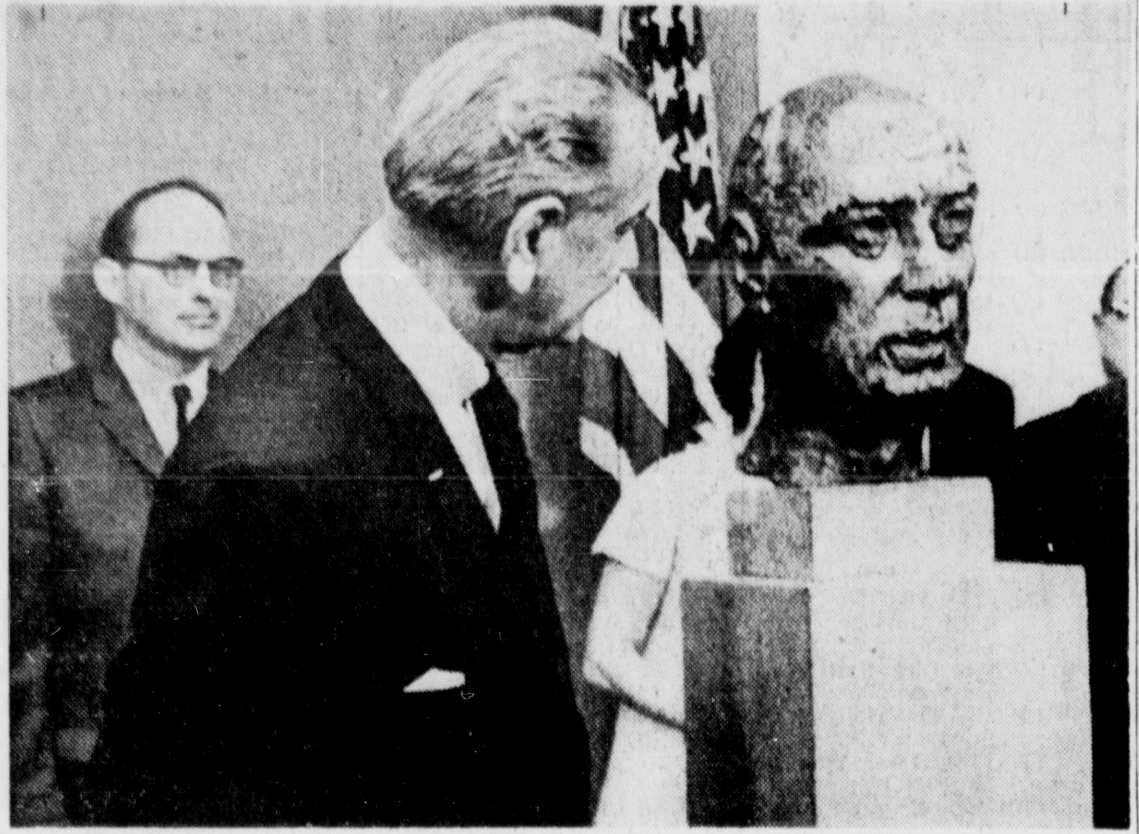

The boy thought it over and then asked, Bobby — Well, then, what are the others here for?

Kennedy Tells of Apathy; Not Fully Informed: Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says the surprise Viet Cong attacks would have been impossible "if there were a population in South Vietnam that felt even a reasonable allegiance to its own government."

The Massachusetts Democrat, who has often criticized corruption within the South Vietnamese government, said the surprise Viet Cong attacks would have been impossible "if there were a population in South Vietnam that felt even a reasonable allegiance to its own government."

Kennedy, in a Monday speech to the American Advertising Association, added: "Unless we assume that the enemy has the strongest internal security system known, it would have to be said that there was no one in those 26 cities and Saigon who felt compelled to inform the central government of the time and place of even one of these attacks."

As Kennedy spoke, Republican presidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon said in Wisconsin that the guerrilla attacks prove Americans aren't being kept fully informed about the war's progress.

Optimistic Report

Before the Viet Cong raids, Nixon said, there had been optimistic reports issued in Washington indicating the military operation was going well or that "peace was around the corner."

But meanwhile, Nixon added,

"apparently our hard intelligence indicated that not only was the enemy capable of doing what it did in this last offensive, it is capable of doing it again."

He said the Johnson administration "would be much better advised to tell the American people the truth about the enemy's strength and the enemy's intentions, and at the same time make very clear that we're not going to cave in to this kind of assault."

Kennedy called for a new confrontation between this country and the Saigon government, saying the South Vietnamese leaders must be told to reform, to make their government "worthy of the respect of the people."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield endorsed Kennedy's call, saying he believes it's time for "very serious talks" along this line.

Refugees Clog Saigon Streets

SAIGON (AP) — Tens of thousands of refugees, loaded down with household utensils and clothing, clogged the streets of Saigon today. They were fleeing from their homes in the southern part of the city, swarming into the capital's secure center.

The refugees claimed the police were unable to give them any protection against marauding Viet Cong bands.

"The Viet Cong came to my shop last night with cigarette lighters and rifles," a tearful shopkeeper said. "They were only kids, but they threatened me and burned down my shop. Now 500 homes are burned," he said, pointing to a block-long mass of ruins.

The shopkeeper said many people from the locality ran to the police headquarters 200 yards down the road, "but the police never came to help—no one came."

"I have lost everything, 4 million piasters worth, and so has everyone else around me," the shopkeeper said as he raked through the smoldering remains of his shop.

Moving past him on the street were refugees in bicycle cabs, pushing their own bicycles, and on foot.

City officials report 47,000 refugees have been registered in official camps. The exodus from the heavily populated southern section is expected to push the total far above that.

Saigon and its suburbs have an estimated population of nearly 3 million people.

The 8th Precinct on the south stretches alongside Cholon, the Chinese section, and is a maze of canals and shacks. It was an area of panic today.

Traffic jammed the main bridge leading toward the center of town. Smaller bridges were under sniper fire.

Several blocks had been razed during the night, one by the Viet Cong. Residents said 500 yards of homes along one canal were destroyed by U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers that dropped napalm and fired rockets on suspected pockets of Viet Cong.

Air strikes continued today on the outskirts of the precinct, but no troop reinforcements had been sent in. All reserves were fully committed in other parts of the city.

Police in the area said the Viet Cong still held some parts of the precinct, but not enough troops were available to search them out.

Arrest Student Priest

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — An 18-year-old student priest was arrested Monday night on four counts of arson in connection with small fires at Mount Carmel College, a Roman Catholic seminary, in the last week.

Police said the student, whose name was not disclosed, was charged after an investigation into five blazes in various parts of the college.

The seminary building suffered $1 million damage in a fire last Nov. 25, but police said the seminarian was not involved in it.

Lots of Red Tape

Travel Tax Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional approval of President Johnson's proposed tax on U.S. travelers abroad would create a new mountain of federal red tape.

But the Treasury Department foresees little undue delay for overseas travelers—and few administrative problems for the government—if it gets some 500 additional workers to help handle the program.

As outlined Monday for the House Ways and Means Committee, the proposed travel tax and cuts in duty-free allowances would generate at least another 12 million pieces of paper yearly for the Customs Service and the Internal Revenue Service.

Customs figures it will need another 535 employees throughout the country to handle the increased workload and to tighten the collection of duties it is now missing because it lacks manpower.

No IRS Estimate

There's no estimate as yet of how many additional workers IRS might need although as explained by Treasury experts the travel tax procedures should create no bottleneck at airports or docks.

Most traveling Americans wouldn't be affected by the proposed tax on spending because the Western Hemisphere is exempt. Roughly two-thirds of all U.S. citizens traveling in other countries go to Canada and Mexico.

Treasury officials said they count about 2.2 million taxable trips yearly and this will mean another 6.6 million pieces of paper to be filled out by individual travelers and handled by IRS.

To comply with the proposed travel tax, a person would be required to file a statement before he leaves the airport listing the amount of money and travelers checks he is carrying with him. He must also file and pay an estimated tax based on the amount he plans to spend abroad.

But Treasury officials said the tax statements can be filled out well in advance of the trip since the forms would be available at post offices and through travel agents. The traveler could merely enclose his check in an envelope to cover his estimated tax and deposit it at the departure point.

A similar declaration of pocket money would be filed on return but this could be completed during the air flight or ship passage home, one official said. It also would be dropped in a basket while the person went through customs.

The returning traveler would then have 60 days to file a travel tax return and pay any additional money owed.

A Package

All three forms—the two declarations of money carried by the tourist and the formal tax return itself—would come in one package to be picked up before the trip.

The proposal to reduce duty-free allowances on souvenirs and other goods purchased abroad from $100 to $10 would be expected to swell the current number of Customs Service assessments by 1 million to a total 1,350,000 yearly.

This would require another 145 employees at a cost of $1.5 million, officials said, but would increase federal revenues by about $17 million.

The cut from $10 to $1 in the duty-free allowance for gift packages mailed home would mean another 5 million packages processed, the service said.

Presently, customs makes assessments on about 1.6 million gift packages a year. But because it lacks adequate manpower, an estimated 3.4 million packages go through without being taxed.

To handle this entire load, officials estimate it would take 390 additional workers at a cost of $3.5 million, but would increase federal customs revenues by $30 million.

Fredonia Man Slew Wife, Self Troopers Rule

FREDONIA, N.Y. (AP) — A 62-year-old man bludgeoned his wife to death last Saturday, then took his own life with an overdose of a barbiturate, State Police say their investigation has determined.

In issuing their finding Monday, investigators said they still were searching for a motive in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Maloney, a couple said to have been happily married for several years.

Maloney used a four-pound bookend to crush the skull of his wife Helen, 58, then swallowed a lethal dose of an undetermined type of barbiturate, a sedative drug, the detectives said.

The bodies were found in the Maloneys' suite at the White Inn, a hotel and restaurant they formerly owned, in this village 43 miles southwest of Buffalo.

Investigators said the drug was detected during an examination of the contents of Maloney's stomach at the State Police Scientific Laboratory in Albany.

Ralph J. Wallace, a Chautauque County coroner, said he would issue a verdict of suicide in Maloney's death on the basis of the State Police findings. He had previously ruled Mrs. Maloney a murder victim.

Two Buffalo Men Killed in Viet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Marine squad leaders, one from Buffalo and the other from the Buffalo suburb of Kenmore — were reported killed in combat Friday while serving with the same battalion in South Vietnam.

The were Lance Cpl. Roger E. Kelly, 20, of Kenmore, and Cpl. Kenneth P. Borowicz, also 20, of Buffalo.

In addition, the Defense Department reported Monday that a third serviceman from upstate New York — Army Pfc. Dennis L. Pickard of Phoenix was killed in the Vietnam conflict.

Kelly and Borowicz were assigned to the 1st Battalion of the 4th Marines. They died in combat near Quang Tri.

Kelly joined the Marines in September 1966 and was sent to Vietnam last November.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Kelly, and a sister.

Borowicz had been in the Marines since 1964 and served as a military policeman at the Brooklyn Navy Yard for nearly three years before going to Vietnam last April.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Borowicz.

Want More 3-Day Weekends

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New Yorkers would be assured of more three-day weekends under an Assembly-passed bill calling for observance of five holidays on Mondays, even if they fell on other working days.

The Democratic-sponsored measure was approved Monday, 97-46, and sent to the Republican-controlled Senate. Its fate there is uncertain.

The five holidays are Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays and Memorial, Independence and Veterans days.

Backers of the bill contended that job-absenteeism would be reduced on the days after the holidays.

Opponents said such legislation would cause dual observances since federal employees, for example, would continue to follow the present customs.

What, a brand new Oil heating system FREE!

It isn't as far-fetched as it seems. If you have a heating system which passed its peak efficiency long ago, you may be wasting many gallons of fuel every year . . . and wasted fuel in wasted money.

New, thoroughly modern OIL heating equipment saves fuel . . . can actually save enough fuel dollars to pay for itself in a very short time. It's like getting a new heating system free. And that doesn't even include the extra comfort, the extra satisfaction and the extra peace-of-mind you'll enjoy.

If you have any doubts about your heating system, call your local oil supplier today. If replacement is needed, he'll recommend the installation to fit your needs. Before you have time to pay for your new unit . . . it will probably pay for itself.

Kennedy Tells of Apathy; Not Fully Informed: Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says the massive Viet Cong attacks on South Vietnam population centers reveal the "deadly apathy" of the South Vietnamese.

The Massachusetts Democrat, who has often criticized corrup-

Kennedy, in a Monday speech to the American Advertising Association, added:

"Unless we assume that the enemy has the strongest internal security system known, it would have to be said that there was no one in those 26 cities and Saigon who felt compelled to inform the central government of the time and place of even one of these attacks."

As Kennedy spoke, Republican presidential hopeful Richard M. Nixon said in Wisconsin that the guerrilla attacks prove Americans aren't being kept fully informed about the war's progress.

"apparently our hard intelligence indicated that not only was the enemy capable of doing what it did in this last offensive, it is capable of doing it again."

He said the Johnson administration "would be much better advised to tell the American people the truth about the enemy's strength and the enemy's intentions, and at the same time make very clear that we're not going to cave in to this kind of assault."

Kennedy called for a new confrontation between this country and the Saigon government, saying the South Vietnamese leaders must be told to reform, to make their government "worthy of the respect of the people."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield endorsed Kennedy's call, saying he believes it's time for "very serious talks" along this line.

Refugees Clog Saigon Streets

SAIGON (AP) — Tens of thousands of refugees, loaded down with household utensils and clothing, clogged the streets of Saigon today. They were fleeing from their homes in the southern part of the city, swarming into the capital's secure center.

The refugees claimed the police were unable to give them any protection against marauding Viet Cong bands.

"The Viet Cong came to my shop last night with cigarette lighters and rifles," a tearful shopkeeper said. "They were only kids, but they threatened me and burned down my shop. Now 500 homes are burned," he said, pointing to a block-long mass of ruins.

The shopkeeper said many people from the locality ran to the police headquarters 200 yards down the road, "but the police never came to help—no one came."

"I have lost everything, 4 million piasters worth, and so has everyone else around me," the shopkeeper said as he raked through the smoldering remains of his shop.

Moving past him on the street were refugees in bicycle cabs, pushing their own bicycles, and on foot.

City officials report 47,000 refugees have been registered in official camps. The exodus from the heavily populated southern section is expected to push the total far above that.

Saigon and its suburbs have an estimated population of nearly 3 million people.

The 8th Precinct on the south stretches alongside Cholon, the Chinese section, and is a maze of canals and shacks. It was an area of panic today.

Traffic jammed the main bridge leading toward the center of town. Smaller bridges were under sniper fire.

Several blocks had been razed during the night, one by the Viet Cong. Residents said 500 yards of homes along one canal were destroyed by U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers that dropped napalm and fired rockets on suspected pockets of Viet Cong.

Air strikes continued today on the outskirts of the precinct, but no troop reinforcements had been sent in. All reserves were fully committed in other parts of the city.

Policemen in the area said the Viet Cong still held some parts of the precinct, but not enough troops were available to search them out.

Optimistic Report

Before the Viet Cong raids, Nixon said, there had been optimistic reports issued in Washington indicating the military operation was going well or that "peace was around the corner."

But meanwhile, Nixon added,

Lots of Red Tape

Travel Tax Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional approval of President Johnson's proposed tax on U.S. travelers abroad would create a new mountain of federal red tape.

But the Treasury Department foresees little undue delay for overseas travelers—and few administrative problems for the government—if it gets some 500 additional workers to help handle the program.

As outlined Monday for the House Ways and Means Committee, the proposed travel tax and cuts in duty-free allowances would generate at least another 12 million pieces of paper yearly for the Customs Service and the Internal Revenue Service.

Customs figures it will need another 535 employees throughout the country to handle the increased workload and to tighten the collection of duties it is now missing because it lacks manpower.

No IRS Estimate

There's no estimate as yet of how many additional workers IRS might need although as explained by Treasury experts the travel tax procedures should create no bottleneck at airports or docks.

Most traveling Americans wouldn't be affected by the proposed tax on spending because the Western Hemisphere is exempt. Roughly two-thirds of all U.S. citizens traveling in other countries go to Canada and Mexico.

Treasury officials said they count about 2.2 million taxable trips yearly and this will mean another 6.6 million pieces of paper to be filled out by individuals and handled by IRS.

To comply with the proposed travel tax, a person would be required to file a statement before he leaves the airport listing the amount of money and travelers checks he is carrying with him. He must also file and pay an estimated tax based on the amount he plans to spend abroad.

But Treasury officials said the tax statements can be filled out well in advance of the trip since the forms would be available at post offices and through travel agents. The traveler could merely enclose his check in an envelope to cover his estimated tax and deposit it at the departure point.

A similar declaration of pocket money would be filed on return but this could be completed during the air flight or ship passage home, one official said. It also would be dropped in a basket while the person went through customs.

The returning traveler would then have 60 days to file a travel tax return and pay any additional money owed.

A Package

All three forms—the two declarations of money carried by the tourist and the formal tax return itself—would come in one package to be picked up before the trip.

The proposal to reduce duty-free allowances on souvenirs and other goods purchased abroad from $100 to $10 would be expected to swell the current number of Customs Service assessments by 1 million to a total of 1,350,000 yearly.

This would require another 145 employees at a cost of $1.5 million, officials said, but would increase federal revenues by about $17 million.

The cut from $10 to $1 in the duty-free allowance for gift packages mailed home would mean another 5 million packages processed, the service said.

Presently, customs makes assessments on about 1.6 million gift packages a year. But because it lacks adequate manpower, an estimated 3.4 million packages go through without being taxed.

To handle this entire load, officials estimate it would take 390 additional workers at a cost of $3.5 million, but would increase federal customs revenues by $30 million.

Fredonia Man Slew Wife, Self Troopers Rule

FREDONIA, N.Y. (AP) — A 62-year-old man bludgeoned his wife to death last Saturday, then took his own life with an overdose of a barbiturate, State Police say their investigation has determined.

In issuing their finding Monday, investigators said they still were searching for a motive in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Maloney, a couple said to have been happily married for several years.

Maloney used a four-pound bookend to crush the skull of his wife Helen, 58, then swallowed a lethal dose of an undetermined type of barbiturate, a sedative drug, the detectives said.

The bodies were found in the Maloneys' suite at the White Inn, a hotel and restaurant they formerly owned, in this village 45 miles southwest of Buffalo.

Investigators said the drug was detected during an examination of the contents of Maloney's stomach at the State Police Scientific Laboratory in Albany.

Ralph J. Wallace, a Chautauque County coroner, said he would issue a verdict of suicide in Maloney's death on the basis of the State Police findings. He had previously ruled Mrs. Maloney a murder victim.

Two Buffalo Men Killed in Viet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Marine squad leaders — one from Buffalo and the other from the Buffalo suburb of Kenmore — were reported killed in combat Friday while serving with the same battalion in South Vietnam.

The were Lance Cpl. Roger E. Kelly, 20, of Kenmore, and Cpl. Kenneth P. Borowicz, also 20, of Buffalo.

In addition, the Defense Department reported Monday that a third serviceman from upstate New York — Army Pfc. Dennis L. Pickard of Phoenix — was killed in the Vietnam conflict.

Kelly and Borowicz were assigned to the 1st Battalion of the 4th Marines. They died in combat near Quang Tri.

Kelly joined the Marines in September 1966 and was sent to Vietnam last November.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Kelly, and a sister.

Borowicz had been in the Marines since 1964 and served as a military policeman at the Brooklyn Navy Yard for nearly three years before going to Vietnam last April.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Borowicz.

Want More 3-Day Weekends

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New Yorkers would be assured of more three-day weekends under an Assembly-passed bill calling for observance of five holidays on Mondays, even if they fell on other working days.

The Democratic-sponsored measure was approved Monday, 97-46, and sent to the Republican-controlled Senate. Its fate there is uncertain.

The five holidays are Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays and Memorial, Independence and Veterans days.

Backers of the bill contended that job-absenteeism would be reduced on the days after the holidays.

Opponents said such legislation would cause dual observances since federal employees, for example, would continue to follow the present customs.
